INCREASE IN FUNDS FOR CITY BUDGET BEING SECURED

Raise in Water Rates, Larger Fees for Building, Lower Salaries, Council Plan

Furthering the finances of Glendale, in order to meet the demands made by the continued rapid growth, the city council has authorized a number of changes, including salary reductions, transfers of funds, an increase in water rates, an increase in fees for building permits—and other measures are pending to secure more money for the municipality.

There will be a slight increase in the water rates for small consumers; the minimum cost to remain as at present, but the number of feet permitted to be decreased. The largest raise, it is declared, will be met by heavy consumers. It is estimated that the new rates will increase revenues during the winter months several hundred dollars, while during the summer the increase is expected to amount to close to $1,500 a month.

It is agreed by the council that the fees for building permits shall be increased from $1 to $2 for the initial fee and from 50 cents to $1 on each $1,000 of subsequent cost.

Consider Garbage Charge

The council also has under consideration a charge of $1 a quarter for collecting garbage from the entire city. That charge is now in effect, but recently the council decided to abolish it the first of the year. Now, according to an ordinance introduced at the meeting last night, the charge will be continued—provided the ordinance is adopted.

Reductions in municipal expenses and the securing of additional revenues to meet the mounting expenses occasioned by the city's continued growth, have been under consideration by the council for weeks in the committee of the whole. At last night's session of the council, minutes of the committee of the whole proceedings were made public.

Minutes of Proceedings

The minutes of the city council, meeting in the committee of the whole on Monday night, November 28, as prepared by W. H. Reeves, city manager, were approved by the council in session last night, on motion of Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, and follow in full:

Moved by Councilman Lapham, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that

Interclass Debate Is Held at Intermediate

The first interclass debate of this term will be held at the Intermediate school today. The subject will be: "Resolved, that our Intermediate school should adopt a system of student government."

The affirmative side of the question will be taken by the A-8-11 class, represented by Barbara Kranz, Thelma Turner, Wendell Beauchamp, Eugene Brecht and Robert Bungay. They have been coached by Miss Edna Duffy.

The negative side will be taken by the A-8-1, represented by Bennie Jean Lockwood, Ross Russell, Consuela Moreno, Fred McCormick, William Phillips and coached by Miss Gladys Sharpe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shay Now Residents of City

Among Glendale's "newest" newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shay and children, Lois and Bernard, who recently moved to this city from Oakland. They are located at 928 North Louise street, where they expect to spend the coming winter months.

Mr. Shay, who is the son of one of San Francisco's leading attorneys, is employed by the Stewart Fruit Brokerage of California, operating in the northern part of the state in the summer months and in the vicinity of Los Angeles in the winter.

Clyde L. Morrow Is Visitor With Relatives

Clyde L. Morrow of Los Angeles, former well known local resident, was in Glendale during the first part of this week visiting with frinds and relatives. Mr. Morrow is a brother of Ray Morrow of 516 West Doran street. He lived in this city until about eight years ago, when he left for Imperial valley, where he made his home until September of this year, when he moved to Los Angeles.

NEW CAFE BEING PLANNED

"The Glendalian" will be the name of an establishment which will take the lease on the north room of the Chamber of Commerce building at 152 South Brand boulevard. F. V. Edmonds of this city, P. H. Dunning of Hollywood and E. A. Cole of Los Angeles held a conference with Citizens' Building Corporation last night and agreed to install a high-class cafe with an investment of $25,000 in fixtures and equipment.

Sisterhood Class of Methodist Church in Unique entertainment

The members of the sisterhood class of the First Methodist church entertained their husbands and friends at the church last night. A very delicious dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, with Mrs. C. E. Russell in charge of the dining room. Decorations for the banquet hall and tables were in the Christmas colors, with a large center piece of greenery and poinsettias, with a large Christmas bell overhanging. Flowers for the tables were of red carnations and place cards were at each plate. Covers were laid for 135. The serving was quite informal, as the tables were set complete, even to the dessert, making it possible for everyone to sit down together like one family.

After the dinner the entertainment committee, consisting of Mrs. C. H. Hallett, Mrs. W. A. Maxwell and Mrs. J. Lampert, took charge of the program. This included two piano numbers by Miss Nettie Campbell, followed by three songs by the Sisterhood class quartette, Mrs. Mark Russell, Mrs. V. T. Boicourt, Mrs. C. E. Russell and Mrs. B. S. Geiger. The words to these songs were written for the occasion by the class poet and president, Mrs. Mark Russell, one being to the Brotherhood class, one to the Church and one to the Sisterhood class.

Following this there was a get-acquainted game, with Mrs. T. A. Wright and her committee in charge. Mrs. Wright requested the company to form in groups according to their home state. A goodly number of states were represented. Each group was requested to furnish something for the program, and some very interesting numbers were given. It was decided by the judges that the Indiana group were the winners of the contest and they were awarded the privilege of furnishing something for the get-acquainted game at the next party. The flowers at the banquet were later made up into bouquets for the sick friends of the class.

Father's Night by Acacia Club Proves Delightful Affair

The "fathers' night" entertainment given at the Knights of Pythias hall on South Brand boulevard last night by the Mothers' Club of the Acacia Street P.-T. A. proved to be a decided success, with over 150 mothers and fathers present. A business meeting and social evening were combined. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. William Alexander. A communication from the Chamber of Commerce was read by the secretary, Mrs. E. W. Evans, requesting a donation of $10 for the float fund. It was suggested by H. C. Levey that instead of the club taking the money from its treasury that a collection be taken among the fathers present, and that any money over this amount be added to the Mothers' Club treasury. Over $31 was collected. A sum was also voted for juvenile court work. The room count at last night's meeting resulted in Mrs. Phillips' room having the largest number of mothers and fathers in attendance and was awarded the banner.

The business meeting was followed by a program, including songs by the third grade, Hiawatha sketch by the first grade, songs by the three Perham brothers, story by little Barbara Braun and a dialogue by Eliza Windas and Beverly Rich, vocal numbers by Harry Girard, recitations by Dorothy Alexander, piano numbers by Dorothy Levey, talk by Mrs. Kemper Campbell on "Father."

Peter L. Ferry was present and urged the people to vote for the high school bonds and to give their consideration to the two sites proposed.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of hot coffee and home made pumpkin and apple pie were served.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett Is Again Red Cross Head

A short meeting of the directors of the Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross was held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman; Mrs. W. W. Worley, vice-chairman; Mrs. John Robert White, secretary; Miss Neva Vesey, treasurer. Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Lillian Dow and Mrs. C. L. Peckham were elected members of the executive meeting.

At yesterday's meeting the name of Mrs. Arthur C. Brown was added to the list of directors. Mrs. C. L. Peckham, chairman of the membership drive, reported that the total money received during the drive amounted to $1,611.

HAVE YOU AIDED FLOAT?

Contributions keep on coming for the Tournament of Roses Glendale float fund, but hundreds of smaller sums are needed than those already given. James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says there are upwards of 20,000 people here who could afford to give an average of a dollar apiece, if necessary. However, nothing like that is expected and if a hundred more will do as J. C. Sherer, E. F. Sanders and the Glendale Feed and Fuel Company have done in giving $5 each there is no question but L. W. Chobe and his helpers will make a most creditable showing in the New Year's day parade.

LOCAL ARCHITECTS ARE CHOSEN FOR SCHOOL'S WORK

Alfred F. Priest and George M. Lindsey Selected by the Grammar School Board

Two local architects were chosen yesterday at a special meeting of the grammar school board of trustees.

Alfred F. Priest was chosen architect for the new Intermediate school and for all grammar school additions and new units, except the addition to the Acacia school and the new Grandview school, which were placed in the hands of George M. Lindsey.

"The board felt that wherever it could, without prejudice to the interest of the district, employ a local architect it would do so," stated Superintendent Richardson D. White, after the appointments. "Beyond that it was simply a question of hearing a number of architects and seeing their sample plans of work they had done and selecting the best. There were some other men whom the members of the board thought would do just as good work, but they were from Los Angeles.

Both Are Competent

"There wasn't anybody whom the board thought would give better service. The board found both of these men to be thoroughly competent, after a thorough investigation."

Alfred F. Priest resides at 1422 North Central avenue and maintains an office in the Fay building, Los Angeles. He designed the Glendale Theatre and Elks' club house, and is now preparing plans for the new club house of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

George M. Lindsey resides in Eagle Rock, but it is understood he intends moving to Glendale at the earliest opportunity. His office is located at 127 West Broadway. At one time he was superintendent of buildings for the Los Angeles school board and superintended the construction of the Lincoln and Franklin high schools. Since returning to California from Detroit six months ago he has been engaged preparing plans for the Rosemont grammar school in Los Angeles.

Bonds to Be Sold

Bonds to cover the expenses of the school work will be sold on December 19, according to a communication received from the county board of supervisors. This announced that bids for these bonds would be received until 11 o'clock on the morning of this date. It was requested that representatives of the local school board be on hand to advise the acceptance or rejection of such bids as might be offered. Superintendent R. D. White and David R. Black, member of the board, were delegated to this duty with power to act.

All Day Meeting Held by Women's Union

An all-day meeting of the Women's Union of the Baptist church was held at the church yesterday with the president, Mrs. E. E. Ford in charge. During the morning Christmas sewing for the poor was done. After the lunch at noon the business meeting was held. This was opened with devotionals led by Mrs. Grover Adams and Mrs. McKee. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. J. R. Bright, secretary, after which reports were heard from the treasurer, Mrs. W. Grigg, chairman of the White Cross, Mrs. King, and also from Mrs. E. E. Ford, who stated that the barrel of fruit which had been prepared by the members had been sent to the Indians in Arizona.

The business meeting, which was attended by about fifty members, was followed by a program, with Mrs. J. Roger Bentley in charge, given by the children, and included a song "I Love My Old Doll Best" and recitations by little Margaret Chase; piano solo by Donald Bentley "The Peasants Frolic"; readings by Miss Nellie Rowe; Mrs. Walter Stamps told of Christmas in other lands; duet by Wesley Kent, piano, and Howard Smits, saxophone.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Ford urged the co-operation of all the parents in the definite work being done by the juniors and intermediates, and spoke of her pleasure in working with the children. The children were given a treat of candy canes after the meeting had been dismissed.

Group of Teachers at Robert Mantell's Play

Miss Lorraine Mitchell, principal of the Columbus avenue school, entertained a group of teachers at a theatre party in Los Angeles last night, witnessing Robert Mantell in "King Lear." Her guests included Mrs. E. Robinson, Miss Bertha Berry, Miss Elsie Church, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Helen Ball, Mrs. C. Seguine, Mrs. Shives Mitchell, Miss Iva Hunter, Miss Jessie Thornton, Mrs. J. Hunt, Miss Alice Livesy and Mrs. McLennon.

TO DISCUSS SCHOOL SITE

A mass meeting will be held tonight at the Broadway school, 1201 East Broadway, to discuss the east side high school site. The speaking is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

AUTO CAMP GROUND NEAR CITY TO BE BEST IN WORLD

Room for 400 Cars; Bungalows If Desired; Equipment to Cost Many Thousands

Will M. Robertson of Los Angeles has taken a ten year lease on fourteen acres of ground lying west of the Southern Pacific railroad between Colorado street and Broadway and is now building what is claimed to be the best equipped auto camp ground in America.

Twenty-five thousand dollars will be spent in physical equipment for the place, according to Mr. Robertson who has the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce here. There will be storage room for 400 cars, bungalow accommodations for those campers who desire such service as given in the best tourist hotels.

Playgrounds for children, every modern sanitary convenience and supply stations and stores for the motorists' needs will be included in this model establishment, according to Mr. Robertson who has taken a membership in the Chamber of Commerce and will call the place "Glendale Auto Camp Grounds."

Opposite Griffith Park

The site is opposite Griffith park, across the Los Angeles river, and if permission can be obtained from the Los Angeles city council a suspension bridge connecting the camping grounds and golf links will be built by Mr. Robinson's concern.

In providing a home for tourists in this vicinity a great need will have been met, it is agreed by municipal and civic representatives who are enthusiastic about the scheme. Work will be started at once, it is stated, and the grounds ready for the early spring motorcades.

Direct Connections for Glendale's Mail Shown in Bid Call

Seated on left side are the French and Japanese delegations. Seated on right are the Italian delegation and representatives of the British Dominions. In the lower box are Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Coolidge. At the head of the room Samuel Gompers, Herbert Hoover, General Pershing and Theodore Roosevelt.

WAY TO SUCCESS IS TOPIC OF TALK BY HARRY RIMMER

Athletic Director Speaks at Hi-Y Banquet; Says Most Noted Men Christians

"The Path to Success" was the subject of an address in the Baptist church by Harry Rimmer, formerly athletic director for the Pacific fleet, at the annual Hi-Y banquet attended by delegations from Burbank and Alhambra.

"Success is measured not in terms of time, but in terms of eternity," declared Mr. Rimmer. "There is a life to come after this.

"I haven't met an atheist under 60 years of age. This shows that young fellows' brains have figured out for themselves that there is a God.

"All that the Bible is written for is to show how man may become reconciled to God through Jesus Christ. The whole heart of the Bible is: Honor God and accept Jesus Christ as your savior. The path to real success is to become a Christian and live accordingly.

Success and Christians

"A Christian is the only sort of a fellow who shoots straight and consistently all the time.

"I never like to hear people crowing about one section of the country. I am an American.

"Most successful men are Christians. Babson's statistical report shows that 97 per cent of successful men in business are Christians. The big business men of America are Christians. The wobblies and the down-and-outs are the non-Christians.

"Nine hundred and ninety-nine men out of every hundred become Christians in high school age. There is just one man in 10,000 who joins the church after high school age. I find that the men, who land in the gutters, are those who have rejected Christ in their early life. No man can make a success in life without building on Christ as a foundation stone.

It's Regular Thing

"Every president, who ever sat in the president's chair in Washington, with only one exception, was a Christian. All the rest of the whole line were eminent Christian men. Of all the men who ever sat upon the Supreme bench there has only been one man who was not a Christian. It is a regular thing for prominent men today to be Christians. Nine out of the eleven men who regularly play upon the California football team are Christians.

"The path to success—that is the goal we watch. The American people are driving hard on the heels of success and the ideal of every man is that some day he will be a success.

"America has become great and God has honored her because America has kept her faith in God."

PASTOR'S WIFE TOOK PLACE

COLUMBUS, O.—The wife of a local clergyman occupied his pulpit while he was ill. The Sunday congregations at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church plainly displayed surprise when the wife of their pastor, Rev. C. B. Ketcham, took his place in the pulpit. Apparently at ease, and acting as though she had been accustomed to occupying the pulpit, Mrs. Ketcham directed the service. She did not preach, however. In place of the sermon she gave a reading.

HONOLULU—Honolulu's county jail now has an average of only sixty-six prisoners a month as compared with a monthly average of 250 for 1919. The decrease is attributed by local police authorities to the effects of prohibition.

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGES
NO BOTTOM IN OVEN

No bottom in oven stands for the first great invention in gas range construction—but out of the same foundry sprang the magic "Lorain" heat control, ranking with the sewing machine in service to womankind.

Today Direct Actions are really the only modern range, so invented that they can't burn out, can't burn food, need no pot-watching, and, positively, use the least gas. Sold on terms.

LEARN 300 CHINESE WORDS YEARLY IF YOU STUDY HARD

Process Is Not Altogether Painless, Says Dr. Chu, Who Instructs Class

By LEO T. HEATLEY
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK—No need to puzzle longer over the meaning of those queer ideographs and hieroglyphics adorning your laundry ticket; you can learn Chinese at a glance.

As a starter: Three little written apples mean water; the ideograph for "man," with the sign for "2" alongside, signifies "humanity"; portray the sun and moon separately and then join them to make "bright." It's as simple as hash!

There are only 50,000 of these ideographs in the language of Confucius, and after you have learned to write them you begin all over again and learn how to pronounce them. The Mandarin dictionary may look as strange to you as would a glass of real pre-Volstead firewater, but you would soon lose this fantastic opinion if you could hear the exotic sounds floating over Trinity churchyard from the class in Chinese at New York university, which has the largest class in Chinese in the country. Harvard quit teaching Chinese forty years ago, but has just announced that a new term will begin again this winter. There is also a small Chinese language class at Columbia university.

But let Dr. Jenkins P. Chu, the teacher, tell us about it:

Not Easy to Study

"Of course they can learn it. But the process is not altogether painless. My students pursue the wisdom of the orient for an hour and one-half on Monday evenings. I will tell you just what they can do at the end of the year's work: They can carry on simple, ordinary conversation, write from 250 to 300 words and read a little. Quite a number of these students also take the second year course. The New York University School of Commerce has been teaching Chinese for several years. The students enjoy studying our language. You should hear how well they can distinguish between pronunciations of "chih" and "ch'ih." But the student must have an ear and a tongue as well as a taste for Chinese, for the inflection is very important.

"Some knowledge of the language is indispensable for anyone who proposes to have business dealing in China.

"I am afraid we can't hope for some delightfully simple remodeling of our ancient tongue, so that it can be 'picked up' like many others. You see, you have not yet accepted Esperanto. The new methods of writing Chinese are just as unwelcome in my country. For a fair-sized vocabulary you can worry along with about 4,000 characters, although there are more than 50,000 in our language. There are 214 radicals.

Not All Picture Words

"Many people have the mistaken idea that almost all of the Chinese characters are pictorial, whereas only ten per cent are pictorial, although the ideographs are often introduced as compounds with other characters. You see, there are many words of which you could hardly draw a picture—such as eleemosynary, self-determination, etc. Some Chinese characters are neither phonetic nor pictorial. They are beyond description.

"As regards the new phonetic system for China, this may be used generally enough to make it serviceable in time, but now, certainly, its practical scope is small.

"To be successful commercially or socially in China you must still know the old methods. Of course, the pictured character gives the reader no clue to its pronunciation. When you see a word in your language you have some idea how to pronounce it.

Deaths and Funerals

MARGARET A. CLIMIE

Mrs. Margaret A. Clime of 449 West Wilson avenue passed away this morning, Friday, December 9, 1921. She was born in Canada on October 20, 1846, and had resided for the past year with her niece, Miss H. Mae Smith of 448 West Wilson avenue. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Smith of 415 West Elk avenue and Mrs. Huniford of Thedford, Canada. Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p. m., December 10, 1921, Rev. C. M. Crist officiating. L. G. Scovern Undertaking company in charge.

AT COMMITTEE MEETING

Mrs. Marie M. Yeoman, 113 North Orange street, and Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, 110 Olive street, attended the eexcutive committee meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday in Los Angeles at the Temperance Temple. The Wright prohibition bill to bring California into harmony with the rest of the nation under the Eighteenth amendment and other vital matters to the cause of prohibition were discussed. Mrs. Yeoman is county president of the organization, and Mrs. Smart is president of the local union.

AT MEETING OF LEAGUE

Secretary James M. Rhoades of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and D. L. Gregg, a director of that organization, accompanied by their wives, are attending the sessions of the League of the Southwest at Riverside today. Other directors of the organization expect to be present tomorrow and Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders hopes to hear Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

'EVERYBODY OUT' TO SEE VAUDEVILLE AT GLENDALE

Guatemala Marimba Band Is Headliner; "High Heels" Is Screen Feature

"Everybody out tonight!" says Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale Theatre, who says he has the biggest vaudeville program yet billed here on the Bert Levey coast-to-coast service.

Headlined by the Guatemala Marimba band, the musical sensation of the San Francisco exposition, which is still on its triumphant tour of the states, the variety offered, carries a punch seldom found in an evening's entertainment. You will hear tuneful melodies and exquisite music on the marimbaphones made of native wood from Guatemala which will merit more than one encore.

Ed Tolliver, for years star of the original Georgia Minstrels, is going to provide 15 minutes of solid laughs. He is known as "the whip" of the minstrel men, so snappy are his characterizations, songs and stories.

Frank Curran & company present the novelty act known as the "Monopede Marvel." Danger of spills provide thrills while he does dancing, jumping and racing stunts on one wheel. Curran's skill is amazing and he is assisted by a young lady.

Two Other Star Acts

Bob Erner was born a comedian and when he sings and talks he takes his audience along the highway to happyland, while Brooks & Soares round out the bill with a Chinese novelty act, for which they are known as exponents of silent and sensation fun. For lack of words, their offering cannot be described, but those who have seen it in the east declare it in a class by itself.

"High Heels," the sign of sophistication, is the title of Gladys Walton's latest starring vehicle which tells the appealing story of a frivolous little flapper who was flung from her pedestal and found happiness in disaster. It might be well termed "The Awakening of a Girl's Soul." A galaxy of notables at Universal City support Miss Walton as the cute little rich girl and the settings are picturesquely delightful.

Tomorrow matinee and evening will see a complete change of program, both in vaudeville and pictures, which means you only have the opportunities tonight at 7 and 9 of seeing this stellar show. "Fall in line early" is Mr. Howe's advice to a host of patrons who will turn out tonight.

CHARGE PLOT BY GERMANY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—Germany is seeking secretly to regain her pre-war monopoly of the American dyestuffs market by a "carefully organized and strongly financed movement that has already invaded both Chambers of Congress," Senator Frelinghuysen, republican of New Jersey, charged in the senate in opposing the adoption of a resolution sponsored by Senator King, democrat of Utah, for an investigation of the alleged dyestuffs lobby.

Frelinghuysen offered an amendment to the resolution providing that if the proposed investigation is undertaken it should include the importers of German dyestuffs and their agents and lobbyists.

One of the iron-clad rules that will be rigidly enforced in the new women's hotel in Washington, D. C., is that no tips shall be given.

FAIRVIEW TRACT IS PROVING POPULAR FOR HOMESITES

Hamlin & Hepburn Properties Building Up Fast; Unit Is Now Within Glendale

Many people do not realize the remarkable development taking place in the west end of the city. Acres and acres of land which raised crops of barley, tomatoes and cantaloupes this season is now subdivided and built on.

On Hamlin & Hepburn's tract—Fairview—on September 15, 1921, there were two lone houses in a barley field. At the present time, less than three months later, there are forty homes built or under construction, and the development has just begun.

The popularity of this district is doubtless due to its natural beauty, good transportation facilities, and the reasonable price and terms on which the property is being sold, it is declared.

After selling four units in a short time, Hamlin & Hepburn are placing the fifth on the market now. It consists of fifty-four lots located between fourth street on which the Pacific Electric railway runs, and Glenwood road. There is a station stop at the property.

This unit is in the territory which voted on November 29th to annex to the city of Glendale. That action assures street lights, walks and curbs, garbage collection service, and more than all these items, identifies it with the magic name "Glendale," which alone enhances its value, its marketability and its desirability, it is announced.

The price of the lots offered in this fifth unit, however, are to remain practically the same as in unit 4, the owners state.

MOTHER DROWNS INFANT

CINCINNATI, Dec. 9.—Pressing her two-months-old daughter to her breast, Mrs. Robert Trarback, 30, wife of a contracting painter of Winton Place, sat in a bath tub, turned on the water and drowned the baby. The mother also tried to drown herself but was unsuccessful. When a neighbor discovered the mother she refused to leave the tub and would not relinquish the body of the infant, crying, "Where is my baby?"

Beside the bath tub a flat iron and butcher knife were found. The woman was later taken to the hospital. The husband said his wife had made frequent threats to "make away with all three of us."

PROHIBITION ON ISLANDS

HONOLULU—Honolulu's county jail now has an average of only sixty-six prisoners a month as compared with a monthly average of 250 for 1919. The decrease is attributed by local police authorities to the effects of prohibition.

ACCUSES EX-SERVICE MEN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 9.—Concerted action by the Missouri Organization of the American Legion to cause the removal of Victor J. Miller, as President of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners, was recommended in a telegram from Jerome F. Duggan of this city, received by all the members of the state executive committee. Duggan, who is chairman of the Legion executive committee here, urged state-wide mass meetings be held to ask that Governor Hyde ask for Miller's resignation. Miller was recently quoted as saying that seventy percent of criminals are former service men.

HONOLULU BUSINESS GOOD

HONOLULU, T. H.—Business conditions in Honolulu as regards retail trade are very nearly normal, members of the retail board of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce state. The volume of retail business for 1921 is reported as greater than that of any previous year.

Want an Education?

—There are few persons who would not be glad to get a college education if they thought they could afford it. But there are a great many who do not enjoy such advantages who would be able to do so if they would use a little foresight in making preparations for it. A systematic method of saving will provide for it.

HERE ARE RECORDS SET BY BOWLERS IN ELK LEAGUE

Fifteen Prizes to Be Given to Winners on Night of Big New Year Entertainment

Following is a complete compilation of the records made by the bowlers in the various classes in the Elks' House Bowling league, including games played up to last week. With but three more games to be played by each of the contestants it is not likely that many of these averages will be changed in the final standings:

Class A—Fortunato, 177 1-3; Ward, 172 3-5; Hildebrand, 167 5-12; Apffel, 166 4-18; Gilhuly, 164 2-15; Huesman, 161 10-18; Caswell, 153 2-3; Wyckoff, 150 1-9. Note: Viohl and Brown, with averages of 179 5-9 and 152 8-9, respectfully, were entered in Class A, their records not being considered because they have only participated in nine games.

Class B—Clark, 166 7-15; Hill McGillis, 166 1-15; Timmons, 165 11-18; Urich, 164 11-18; Card, 159 13-18; Chambers, 159; Howard McGillis, 157 1-15; Dodson, 152 3-4. Stone, who was in but nine games, has an average of 160 4-9.

Class C—Fanset, 153 2-15; Vincent Salmacia, 147 1-3; Lawrence, 145 1-3; West, 144 7-18; Wattles, 143 8-9; Vogue, 140 1-5; Bullard, 137 5-12; Hadlee, 137 4-9; Ireland, 137; Wright, 131.

Class B—Frank Salmacia, 133; Rose, 132; Jones, 129 1-12; Sauter, 129 7-18; Kausen, 125 5-9; Albright, 122 1-18; Talbott, 119 3-5; Serviss, 116 1-11; Tone, 110 7-15; McGregor, 101 8-9.

Battle for Leadership

The keenest fight for positions among the leaders of the different classes is that between Ed Clark and Hill McGillis, who are battling for the lead in Class B with less than a half pin margin separating their averages. Both are members of the league leading Terrors and have been at the top in their class since the start of the season.

The fifteen merchandise prizes that have been offered to the best and most consistent bowlers in the race will be presented to the winners on the night of the big New Year's eve entertainment, which is to be held in the club rooms. The special-made bowling ball, to be awarded to the man getting the highest score for an individual game, has apparently been cinched by Art Timmons, also of the Terrors, who has a score of 241.

Leader in Spares

Huesman leads in spares made with eighty-four to his credit. He is closely pressed for the honors by Card and West, who have collected eighty-three and eighty-two, respectively. Joe Fortunato easily leads the field in strikes, his mark being sixty-eight ahead of Jimmy Apffel, his nearest rival. Fortunato also leads in split spares made, having picked out eleven of the hard ones to five for Apffel and Ward.

Future War Between White, Yellow Race Says English Bishop

LONDON—The dread picture of a world war in which the yellow races of the east will strive for domination with the white people of the west was painted by the Bishop of Chelmsford recently in a sermon to the English Church congress at Birmingham.

"Do you know," he asked, "that the whole of the Christian community in England, the church and the nonconformist bodies together, gave in a year toward spiritual work what was less than would keep the British army in the field for six hours.?

"This country last year," he added, "spent $1,800,000,000 in drink, more than $400,000,000 in tobacco and only $12,000,000 on foreign missions.

"I am not a pessimist, but in a few years we shall have a peril moving out from Asia, from China, from India and Japan. What is going to be the result God alone knows.

"The next war will be the yellow against the white races. Think of the last war and its horrors! It will pale into insignificance before a war of color!

"There is nothing that can prevent such a war except that the principles of Christianity be made to underlie international and national life. If the world does not give its sons and daughters to the cause of the church I venture to predict your grandchildren will have to fight in this great world war of color.

"Only Christ can cement the nations. The true solution," concluded the Bishop, "lies, not at the conference in Washington, or in the councils of London and Paris, but on Calvary."

Gold Hill Mine Camp Again Has a Theatre

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev.—Gold Hill, pioneer mining camp of the Virginia City district, has a movie show.

This raises a discussion among old-timers as to the history of theatricals in the town. Many insist that Gold Hill never had a theatre.

One pioneer, however, says that Booth and Barrett once played a week in the town in its bonanza days, making $10,000 by the stopover.

In support of this statement, another patriarch declares that there was a theatre on Main street in the sixties, next to Frankel's stores, where traveling companies presented the drama of the time.

'Take Heed, Shop Early!
Why Not Cumulative Gifts?
Read the Grocers' Ads
Glendale Stands High

By Gil A. Cowan

DO your Christmas shopping now!

Maybe you don't realize what that means to the clerks who face one of the heaviest late shopping seasons in the history of the country.

Reports from east and west alike indicate that people are delaying gift purchases until the last moment. What a task it will be to move all this business in the few days that are left.

Store managers, salesgirls, stock clerks, everybody, come to the advertising men and say:

"For Heaven's sake get the people buying before it is too late for us to help them in making selections. They know we will reserve goods, we do not ask any great amount of money until the articles are delivered. But we cannot do a month's business in the last 10 days before Christmas.

And now there are only 15 days until December 25! Buy and buy now is the only solution of what will otherwise be a pretty predicament.

How about a cumulative gift for Christmas, folks? Especially if you want to give a boy or girl something worth while.

A small sum will start a bank account nicely. And won't they have fun seeing it grow during the coming years? You bet!

For a hundred dollars or more may we not suggest a savings certificate in a bank, loan association or the outright purchase of a good bond.

And if it can be made a gift of several hundred dollars the first payment on a piece of residence property is the quickest little accumulator in Glendale you ever saw.

It is nothiing strange for people to make 100 per cent on their money here in anything from a month to a year's time. A story was told me last night of a local banker who made $2000 on an investment of $2000 in business property within a few weeks.

The Glendale Evening News carries each Friday the price lists of the leading groceries for their Saturday trade, something that is as interesting to the average housewife as the stock market is to men.

Keen buyers will look to the columns of The Glendale Evening News where they will find the greater number of grocers represented, the same paper in which their ads have appeared for years.

It has been the pleasure of The Glendale Evening News to educate Glendale people to reading the advertisements of their local merchants and practice "buying at home."

When you can buy in Glendale and build this city from a business standpoint, you are making it that much more desirable. Remember, Glendale trade is Glendale made!

One week ago the writer of this column suggested that a city can live within its pocketbook, not unlike a family.

Evidently the city councilmen are convinced of the fact for last night they got out the paring knife and did some fine shaving on about everything within reach.

Now they'll see how the old apple tastes.

Glendale bobs up fifth in the list of southern California cities reporting their November building. Like the rest, the figures showed the usual slow up with the exception of Anaheim over in Orange county that seems to be making up for lost time.

FEARS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—"Shall we make our young people Fatty Arbuckle's and Peggy Joyce's, or Sherwood Eddy's and Frances Willard's?" This question by Bishop Thomas Nicholson of the Methodist Episcopal church electrified the conference of the Chicago area. Representatives of 1376 churches were present.

"We have a marvelous wealth of young people," Bishop Nicholson said. "What ideals shall we give them and what channels shall we turn them into?" He pointed out that in Chicago alone there are 10,000 juvenile criminals, "as many boys as we have received into our world-wide ministry in fifteen years," and that in the United States 30,000 girls have disappeared from homes in a year.

FORMER SHERIFF IS FREED

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 9.—John Stringer, former sheriff of King county and candidate for governor in the Republican primaries of 1920, was freed of a grand larceny charge of misappropriating $1,141 of county money when Judge A. W. Frater threw the case out of court after the state had presented its case.

Admission by County Commissioners and a former United States Marshal that Federal money was paid to Stringer personally for the care of Federal prisoners in the county jail with their knowledge and consent caused Stringer's dismissal. He still faces civil suit by the county to recover the money.

USE FOR MANY TRACTORS

WINNIPEG, Man.—Tractors in use on the farms of western Canada numbered more than 33,000 in 1920, according to United States Consul-General J. I. Brittain.

"A recent survey based on statistics supplied by manufacturers and distributors," says Mr. Brittain, "shows a remarkable increase in the use of tractors in the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Sales for the past four years were 5000 in 1917, 7500 in 1918, 9000 in 1919, 10,250 in 1920; total, 31,750.

'DIDJA' EVER THINK ABOUT POSTMAN'S TRIBULATIONS?

Size of Envelopes, Stickers, Stamps, Addresses Are Quite Confusing

Have you mailed your Christmas packages yet?

—"What we want above everything else is to have parcels brought in early," advises George Hallet, superintendent of the branch postoffice here. "A few people are wise and are mailing their packages already. They will get much better service and their packages will get there in much better shape.

"Many people figure out the time it would ordinarily take for a package to get to a certain point and then give it a couple of days extra. They should double the time at least—and then add a couple of days extra.

"It is all right to mark the packages 'Do Not Open Until Christmas,' but Christmas stickers should never be placed on the front of the package. It is not allowed because the stickers resemble stamps too much and are confusing to the clerks."

Preparations are being made at the Glendale office to take care of the anticipated Christmas rush. An adjoining room to the north has been rented. This will provide about one-third more room.

Use Schools for Delivery

The number of extra employes to be drafted into service will depend upon indications of the volume of work. It will be necessary to make a requisition and secure help through the Los Angeles postoffice. Last year three extra clerks were on duty and ten extra carriers. Mr. Hallett stated that four or five extra clerks and twelve or fifteen extra carriers probably would be needed this season.

Arrangements have been made with the grammar school board trustees to use four schools for parcel post depots as soon as the children have been dismissed for the holidays at the close of school on the twentieth of December. These are the Central, Broadway, Cerritos and Pacific schools. Each of them will act as depots for three or four carriers. Packages will be sorted in the lobbies of these buildings and no changes will be made in their interiors.

"We are going to make every possible effort to get out parcels the day received," declared Mr. Hallett. "It all depends how people mail into this office.

"If they mail early, we can deliver them right along. If they mail them at the last minute, we shall get stuck.

"The great problem now is small, dinky, odd-sized envelopes. We have received the following communication from Hubert Work, first assistant postmaster general:

Here's Trouble They Cause

"'The postoffice always needs your assistance, but in one particular especially, just at this time.

"'During the holiday season large quantities of very small envelopes and cards are put into the mails with the result that all postal work is very much retarded and mail disfigured and mutilated.

"'This is not generally known to the public and we want you to help us to do a little educating. The minimum size of cards and envelopes should not be below 2¾ by 4 inches for the following reasons:

"'First—Addresses will be obliterated by cancellation mark.

"'Second—Too small to be run through facing table, necessitating three extra handlings with consequent delay not only to this but to other mail.

"'Third—Delay in cancellation because of awkwardness in putting through cancelling machines.

"'Fourth—Delayed through difficulty in sorting.

"'Fifth—Liability to lose or damage as small sizes do not fit letter packages and cannot be tied securely.

"'These odd and dimunitive sized pieces of stationery have come into use in the past few years and only appear now in any quantities at Christmas time when the whole postal institution is keyed up to top speed and trying to keep on top of the load.

"'We will greatly appreciate, therefore, your co-operation in helping us to get the public to use stationery of the proper size in order that the handling of all mail may be expedited.'"

PACIFIC SHIPS WIN PRIZE

WASHINGTON—Battle efficiency and gunnery trophies for navy ships of the gunboat class were cornered by ships in the Pacific and other foreign stations, the Navy Department announced today.

The gunnery award was carried off by the Monocacy, a gunboat commanded by Lieutenant F. J. Courtney, now in Asiatic waters. The second trophy was also won by an Asiatic Fleet gunboat, the Quiros, commanded by Lieutenant-Commander J. R. Peterson. The battle efficiency pennant also went to the Asiatic Fleet, being won by the gunboat Albany, commanded by Captain W. C. Watts and later by Captain I. C. Richardson.

NO CELEBRATION AT 106

OTTAWA, Kan.—There was no pretentious celebration nor family reunion when Robert Barnabee arrived at his 106th "mile-post" in his journey of life here recently.

Barnabee performed his usual routine of duties around the house, then "hoofed" it to the home of one of his friends, five miles distant.

Barnabee said his mother lived to be 110, and he has a sister who is ninety-three years old and a brother ninety-four, both hale and hearty.

"The Store With the 'All Star' Lines"

Buy a Man's Gift from a Man's Store

Every man likes to receive his gifts from the store where he knows that quality is one of the fundamental principles of the business.

And years of association with this store has gained for us that confidence which we highly prize.

Our Christmas stock of Clothing and Accessories never was finer, never better, and never as comprehensive as right now.

Because of the unusual business we're anticipating this season we urge you to do your shopping early.

Here Are a Few Suggestions:

Hart Schaffner & Marx Suit or Overcoat.
Manhattan Shirts—Madras, Silk.
Gloves for driving or for dress; cape buck, mocha.
Hats—your choice of Stetson or Mallory—the latest soft shapes; caps.
Neckwear—in fine heavy silks; silk knits, too.
House robes, underwear, hosiery, sweater coats, pajamas—everything a man needs and wears.

If in doubt, give him a gift certificate

Hjorth Construction Co. Builds Two Homes

The Hjorth Construction company, 224 South Brand boulevard, this morning started work upon two bungalows on the northwest corner of Garfield and Central avenues for B. A. Young, 411 Cameron place.

They are English type houses with composition shingle roofs. The one at the corner will contain six rooms and the one adjoining it on Garfield avenue will contain five. The floors will be hardwood throughout and there will be gas radiators in each room. In the living room of each house will be a radiant fire gas mantelpiece. There will be a two-car garage.

WANT WISEST MAN FOR JOB

LONDON—Postoffice authorities announce a competition to be held for the post of mail assistant traffic superintendent for the provinces and assistant superintendent of traffic, third class. Applicants must have the following qualifications:

General knowledge, covering historical, social, political, economic, geographical and scientific subjects.

Mathematics, including arithmetic, algebra, geometry, plane and solid, theoretical and applied and differential and integral calculus.

Electricity and magnetism, telegraphy and telephony, including automatic telephony and wireless telegraphy and telephony. The scale of pay averages about $480 per year.

TO HAVE A GENTLE WINTER

COLUMBUS, O.—A mild winter is to prevail in this vicinity. This prediction is made by Robert Hanson, sixty-four, Madison county farmer, who resides near Tradersville.

In substantiation of this prognostication Hanson said red-headed woodpeckers were cracking acorns and storing the kernels in cracks of the bark on trees. This, he believes, indicates that the woodpeckers will stay hereabouts for several months to come.

Then, too, Hanson has noted very thin husks on the corn raised on his farm. Some of these husks, it is claimed, are no thicker than paper.

MOST UNIQUE JAIL BUILT

MANSFIELD, Mo. — America's most unique jail has been located here. The village "jug" is really a jug, the most curiously designed structure of modern eras.

The little building, which is used sometimes, is constructed of concrete, sixteen inches thick. It is the replica of the half of the old-time whiskey bottle, the exterior being rounded, with a tapering of several feet at the entrance. This "jug" has iron bars. Officers admit, however, that without a cork and a handle it is not literally a jug.

DEVELOPING COAL LANDS

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—The Glad Creek Coal & Lumber company, a $1,000,000 concern just incorporated by the secretary of state, has arranged to develop coal and timber on a large scale in the Shady Spring district of Raleigh county. The chief members of the company are E. A. Simmons and D. S. Twohig, of Charleston; B. D. Lacy and Mrs. B. D. Lacy, of Clothier, and S. W. Richey, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

TO PROBE ALLEGED LOBBY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—A resolution providing for a far-reaching investigation of an alleged dye-stuffs lobby was adopted by the senate by a viva voce vote.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator King, democrat, of Utah, was amended at the suggestion of Senator Frelinghysen, republican, of New Jersey, so as to include in the proposed investigation the alleged activities of lobbyists and other agents for the German dyestuff industry. The probe will also embrace American imports of foreign dyestuffs.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—A tentative agreement among the powers interested in China to attempt no further increase in their "sphere of influence" in China, was adopted in the session of the committee on far eastern problems. The agreement reached is understood to be a modification of point No. 3 in the Chinese ten proposals by which the powers were asked to pledge themselves to make no agreement which would be contrary to the spirit of the conference.

PLANT 1,100,000 TREES

HONOLULU, T. H.—Over 1,100,000 trees have been set out in forest reserve areas on the island of Maui since 1910, according to figures given out by the Territorial Board of Agriculture and Forestry, which has charge of all forestation work in Hawaii. The trees are being planted for the most part on the lower windward slopes of Haleakala on east Maui, the section of heavy precipitation, with a view to impeding the surface runoff and providing a permanent and steady water supply for the plantations of central Maui.

BIG GERMAN BANK FAILS

BERLIN, Dec. 9. — What may prove the first of a series of financial crises in Germany occurred at Ludwigshafen when one of the biggest banks failed with liabilities of 340,000,000 marks. The failure of the bank is attributed directly to the panic on the Boerse and the wild fluctuations of exchange. The general financial outlook is pictured as "the blackest in the history of Germany."

"It is an open secret that Germany has almost nothing with which to meet the indemnity installment due on January 15 and the second due February 15," said the Lokal Anzeiger today. "Well-informed circles believe there is no chance to improve the financial situation if the result of the negotiations in London is negative."

The Reichstag Foreign Relations committee probably will meet next week to discuss "the most serious problem that has confronted Germany since the armistice."

ASSERTS SAFETY OF NATION DEPENDS ON EDUCATION

Congressman W. F. Lineberger in Article for The News, Expresses His Views

By WALTER F. LINEBERGER
Congressman Ninth District, California.

Written for The Evening News

Education is the foundation stone of our nation, for it gives everyone an opportunity to act intelligently in the many matters coming up for them to decide by means of their vote. Education, not only in the three R's of our forefathers, but in patriotism and love of our institutions created for their benefit, will result in an electorate of such intelligence that the influence will extend beyond the confines of our own country.

The very safety of our nation depends upon this.

The very best forces in community, state and nation are behind the movement for better education, not the least of which is the American legion, which organization as much as any one other body in the country, realizes the necessity for this.

Bills Being Considered

During the past session of congress several bills were introduced bearing on the all-important question of education for our children, and are now under consideration by the committee to which they were referred.

I have, of course, given attention to these bills, but, inasmuch as the committee will very likely make changes in them before reporting them out, and amendments are possible on the floor of the house, I have felt that in justice to my constituents as well as myself I should not take a definite stand for any one of them until we have an opportunity to consider them from every angle, analyze them thoroughly, and discuss them from every viewpoint, together with the amendments made on the floor of the house, when they come up for action.

I was interested, not long ago, in reading a little item which attracted my notice. It was to the effect that one of the men of India served in the World war, and upon his return he, in answer to some questions which were asked him, said that the things which impressed him most were the splendid cattle which he saw in Europe—and to see a woman, a nurse, READING to an invalid soldier. He thought it would be fine if his own wife were able to read, for he realized how much more companionable she would be, and how much more his home life would mean.

When we stop to think that this man, a comparatively ignorant one, realizes one of the many advantages of education, and how far our influence extends by example rather than an attempt to force our views upon them, I think we should begin to perfect our own machinery for carrying on the work.

HENRY A. MICHEL TO BUILD FOURTEEN MORE HOUSES

Claims Record, Saying He Has Built Over 250 Homes in Glendale in 12 Years

Henry A. Michel, 255 West Dryden street, who claims the record for the largest number of homes built in Glendale, has just completed arrangements for fourteen new homes in the city and has already begun work on three of them. Six of the homes will be located on West Salem street and eight will be built on West Wilson avenue on an extension of the thoroughfare to Kennilworth avenue.

The Verity poultry ranch is included in the property acquired by Mr. Michel and Wilson avenue will be extended through this site, he says. The contract for the street work has been let to Peter L. Ferry and on completion of improvements Mr. Michel says he will deed that section to the city.

"Last year I built sixty-five homes in Glendale," said Mr. Michel, "and in all I think I have built over 250, which I believe is a record for construction of dwellings in the city. I have been here twelve years and have witnessed the growth of Glendale with considerable enthusiasm, and I believe the building has only commenced.

"Besides the dwellings I built in Glendale during the past year I have also put up three flats, one on South Orange street and two on Hawthorne street, each flat having sixteen rooms. These dwellings I am building now will be sold and immediate possession given on a nominal payment down and the balance on easy terms."

Original Comedy Will Be Given at T. D. & L.

W. B. Patton is coming here on his annual tour for 1921-22 in his new mile-a-minute comedy "Chasing Sally" for one performance, Monday night Dec. 12 at the T. D. L. theatre and the advance sale of seats at the box office now indicates a capacity audience. Successful comedies suited for the various types of comedians are quite hard to obtain, and it has been no easy matter for The Empire State Producing Co. of New York to procure material every season for W. B. Patton's peculiar style of acting, characteristic drawl of speech, etc.

In the new comedy "Chasing Sally" they seem to have reached the apex of real merit, for it is very, very funny, full of action, love, rich with surprises that pack a tremendous wallop, wholesome, delightful, extraordinary amusement. The authors have broken away from the traditional stories and have produced a rip-roaring comedy which is different. It's simply a scream during the entire three acts.

East River Once Was Abode of Shark

NEW YORK—The waters of the East river off Catherine Slip, in the shadow of the Brooklyn Bridge, where only germs are to be found now, were productive shark-fishing grounds a century ago, according to the local historians. Nowadays a shark that dares run very far beyond Sandy Hook is a rarity. They seldom get past the outlying branches down in the Lower Bay.

But in the early days of the nineteenth century it was different. There were no steamers, with their thrashing propellers, or chugging motorboats to frighten off the wary fish, and they followed the fishing smacks clean up to the shores of Manhattan Island. Once they got to Catherine Slip, where the biggest fish market in town was located, they were loath to leave, for there they found the choicest tidbits floating with the tide—the dead fish thrown overboard by the market scavengers.

As a result, shark-fishing was good.

Divorcee Retains Her Maiden Name an Hour

RENO—When Nathan Bentz, 65, went to the county clerk's office recently with Winifred Roberts, 31, to secure a marriage license his soon-to-be bride was compelled to shout in his ear so that he could understand what was expected of him in the way of responses, fees and signature.

Mr. Bentz gave his residence as Santa Barbara, Cal., and told County Clerk E. H. Beemer that his divorce cost him $100,000. The divorce was at Santa Barbara, February 4, 1916, Mr. Bentz alleging that his wife had deserted him.

Until about an hour before securing the license Miss Roberts' name was Mrs. Winifred Wanderleach. She was divorced in district court, upstairs from the clerk's office, on the grounds of extreme cruelty on the part of her husband, who was served in Shanghai, China, with the necessary papers. She gave her address as Reno in securing the license.

Her divorce was not contested and the court granted her petition for the restoration of her maiden name, which she kept just long enough to get the license and find a minister—about an hour.

As a part of the plan to enlarge its usefulness, the Royal Colonial Institute, founded in London more than fifty years ago "to work for the permanent unity of the British empire," has decided to extend its privileges to women.

Take Novel Census at University of Chicago

CHICAGO—One student out of every seventeen at the University of Chicago is a foreigner, and only three out of 3,114 profess to be agnostics, or claim no knowledge of God, a census just completed by F. J. Fuller revealed.

Of the 4810 students registered 3,692 admitted belief in God, 578 waived the question, and three "suspected that they didn't know."

Forty-seven denominations were registered, the Methodists leading with 529. Presbyterians second, with 472, and Jewish third, with 323. Baptists were next with 322, and Catholics fifth with 269. There were 116 Christian Scientists.

A tabluation of foreigners showed the Chinese leading with 82; Russians second with 80, Japanese next with 31, then the Canadians with 30, and the Filipinos fifth with 28. The number of Germans registered is 9 and Englishmen 8. There are no Frenchmen, but 7 hail from both Sweden and Italy.

SENATOR JOHNSON HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Senator Hiram Johnson has reached here with Mrs. Johnson from Washington to spend the holidays at his home here. He was greeted on his arrival by a number of friends and supporters as well as members of his family. He stated that President Harding is planning to visit California next June, following adjournment of Congress.

Value of History and Civics in City's Schools

By CLARA MIDCALF
Intermediate School

Our fathers made a nation with the expressed purpose of securing a more perfect union, establishing justice, insuring domestic tranquility, providing a common defence, promoting the general welfare, and securing the blessings of liberty.

They foresaw the need of keeping these aims alive through the succeeding generations. They recorded their convictions that it must be done by maintaining schools as a part of the system of government. They told what public schools are for. Franklin said they are, "to supply men to serve the public; Washington, "to enlighten public opinion;" Adams, "to give the knowledge useful in practice of the moral duties of a man and citizen; Monroe, "to qualify society to discharge with credit the great duties of citizens;" Madison, "to prepare a people who mean to be their own governors;" Jefferson, "to enable the people to understand what is going on in the world and to keep their part of it going right."

By the teaching of history and civics, the schools of Glendale endeavor to carry out these purposes, and prepare the child for citizenship through an understanding of the ideals, institutions, achievements, and problems of his own country.

Attention is given in all grammar grades to "Holidays and National Heroes." Children are taught to enter into the spirit of the day celebrated, and to observe with respect the historical background that has made that day possible. The following list of days are some that are observed by history classes:

Jan. 17, Thrift Day—Franklin's Birthday; Jan. 24, Discovery of Gold in California; Jan. 29, McKinley's Birthday; Feb. 11, Electricity Day—Edison's Birthday; Feb. 12, Lincoln's Birthday; Feb. 22, Washington's Birthday; March 7, Bird and Arbor Day—Burbank's Birthday; April 6, U. S. declared war against Germany; April 12, First Shot of the Civil War; April 19, Battle of Lexington and Concord; May 28, Fire Prevention Day; May 30, Memorial Day; June 14, Flag Day; June 17, Bunker Hill Day; July 4, Independence Day; Sept. 6, Lafayette Day; Sept. 9, Admission Day; Sept. 13, "Star Spangled Banner" written; Sept. 17, Constitution Adopted; Sept. 17, Pacific Ocean Discovered; Oct. 12, Columbus Day; Oct. 27, Americanization Day (Roosevelt's Birthday); Nov. 11, Armistice Day; Nov. 19, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address; Nov. ...., Thanksgiving Day; Dec. 21, Landing of Pilgrims; Dec. 25, Christmas Day.

History is taught in the primary grades by stories and conversation thus bringing out through the child's own experience that which will enable him to grasp ideas of other people even though they are far away in time and place.

Impressions of primitive life are given by studying the Indian home, Indian children, Indian customs and Indian warriors. Then follows stories from the pioneer history of our country and, as a supplementary work to the study of United States history, attention is given to European history, for the root of American civilization is in Europe. Castle Life, Knighthood, The Early Guilds, The Crusaders—all give wonderful lessons in chivalry, courage and loyalty.

The older boys and girls of the Grammar grades study the "History of the American People," from the discovery of America to the present time.

Special emphasis is placed on the development of the nation, causes of great events, inventions, and the industrial life of the people, while less attention is given to dates and details of wars and battles.

Civics emphasizes the necessity for law and order, and aims to inspire pupils with the responsibilities of citizenship. Discussions of political and social questions in the Civics class give the children a better understanding of their duties as citizens, and will enable them in the coming years, to take an active interest in the government of their own community and in the problem of social service.

The great purpose of the teaching of history is character development in the child and the underlying value of civics is to instill within him individual responsibility to the nation.

Dual Citizenship, Hawaiian Problem

HONOLULU—An important factor in the Japanese problem as encountered in Hawaii is that of "dual citizenship." This status is acquired by any island-born Japanese, who, under the laws of our country is an American citizen, having been born on American soil, but who is also a Japanese citizen under the laws of Japan, which holds any child of Japanese parents to be a Japanese citizen.

Under these circumstances a grave doubt exists as to which country would claim the allegiance of the citizen in the event of war between the two countries. So strong has the opposition on the part of Americans become to this system that many island-born Japanese have voluntarily sought and obtained expatriation, according to Consul-General Yada, representing the Japanese government in Honolulu. Mr. Yada further states that no opposition to this movement is offered on the part of the home government at Tokio.

'Family Agent' for Rural Social Life

COLUMBUS — "We are entering upon a new era," declared C. W. Pugsley, Assistant United States Secretary of Agriculture, addressing a recent convention of farm institute workers, county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents and boys' and girls' club organizers at Ohio State university.

"In the past we have had the county fair era, the county institute era, the movable school era, and now we have the agent era," continued Assistant Secretary Pugsley.

"The present divided system, however, with one agent for the men, another for women and a third for the children, is obviously unwise. We should have a family program, a unified organization, which will not only lead to better economic growth growth and distribution of crops, but will also tend to enlarge the social life of rural people."

Buenos Aires has a hotel for the exclusive use of women.

Jilted Girl Shoots Lover in Death Pact

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—Boyd Ridinger is dead here, the victim of a strange love pact. Pretty Allie Stinnett, free under $5000 bond, will face a jury in Marion county court next January charged with his murder.

"We hereby agree that the first one of us that is unfaithful to the other shall meet death at the hands of the other," declared the pact, signed and sealed by the two principals of the tragedy.

Miss Stinnett coolly asserts that Ridinger "jilted" her and was to marry another woman. It was on the day before the wedding that she shot him to death.

Mrs. Margaret Smack, a colored woman of Philadelphia, probably holds the record of being the oldest woman voter in the country. She is now 107 years of age and cast her vote in the recent elections held in Philadelphia.

Keep Your Money in the Bank

Are you troubled by having your money "burn a hole" in your pocket? That is a common fault of money. If you have your money in the bank, whether it be much or little, it will not burn any holes and it will be there when you need it.

Money carried on the person is a temptation to spending. Money in the bank does not offer this temptation. You may hesitate before writing a check where you would not hesitate to spend if you had the money with you.

Morvich Proves Wonder Horse of 1921 Season and Satisfies Owner by Winning Eleven Races

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Morvich, the great 2-year-old champion of the American turf season of 1921, has a Bolsheviki name, but doesn't let it interfere witn the work cut our for him. Morvich loves to work, and since he was introduced has proven it by winning every race in which he started.

Benjamin Block, proud owner of Morvich, might have sent him after a record. Many another owner would have done so. But, after Morvich turned in eleven straight victories, which placed him well in advance of all other stars of his age, with a total winning of $115,234, Mr. Block said:

"We're going to lock the stable door on Morvich. He has done his bit for this year."

Morvich's record ranks third among horses of his age over a span of some fifty odd years, and he has done everything that has been asked of him in the racing line. He wasn't nominated for the futurity and therefore had no chance in this great race, but he won the Pimlico futurity, and that was enough to put him in a position to fill the shoes left vacant by Man o' War as a two-year-old admirably.

Domino stands at the top of all American two-year-olds in the matter of money won, with an aggregate of $170,890, nearly a third of which was amassed in 1893, when he captured the futurity and eight other races for a total of nine straights and a clean record in his two-year-old year.

Stake values were at their best at that period in the matter of financial value, and outside of his first race, a purse affair which netted his owner $895, and the $1250 as the result of a dead heat with Dobbins, each of his wins was well up in five figures, as follows:

Great American Stakes, $18,675; Great Eclipse Stakes, $16,750; Great Trial Stakes, $23,100; Hyde Park Stakes, $16,900; Produce Stakes, $19,875; Futurity Stakes, $48,885, and Matron Stakes, $24,560.

While the dozen straight of Colin and eleven in a row for the 1921 champion, Morvich, do not equal the baker's dozen by the wonderful Tremont in 1886, they smother in money won the rewards which went to the great youngster.

As a matter of fact, each of the first named won more in one race than Tremont won in his whole thirteen, when he garnered $39,135 during his untarnished career thirty-five years ago.

Those of the two-year-olds which didn't taste defeat in their respective years were: Rutherford, in 1873, when he started but once; Sensation, which won eight straight in 1879 for a total of $19,760; The Butterflies, in 1894, with $50,410 for three wins; Tryster, in 1920, with six victories for a total of $49,925, and the others as above recorded.

The redoubtable Man o' War had his record sullied in 1919 when Upset did that very thing to him at Saratoga and set him a head back of ten straight victories.

CHANGE IN FEDERAL STATUTES SOUGHT BY DAUGHERTY

Attorney General Asks Nine Alterations; Submits His Report to Congress

By H. K. REYNOLDS
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Nine specific legislative recommendations designed to remove defects in existing federal statutes were brought to the attention of congress in the first annual report of Attorney General Daugherty. The report also contained a complete review of the work of the Department of Justice for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921.

The attorney general's recommendations were:

First—Making it a crime to kill a federal officer while engaged in executing a process.

Second—Authorizing the presence of stenographers at grand jury sessions.

Third—A statute providing punishment for a single person who defrauds or attempts to defraud the United States.

Fourth—Making it criminal to attempt to commit a crime against the United States.

Fifth—Making it unlawful to send threatening letters through the mail.

Sixth—A statute to authorize liquidation of claims for damages to vessels during the war.

For More Federal Judges

Seventh—Authorization of the appointment of eighteen additional federal judges to relieve congestion in federal courts.

Eighth—Extension of a statute of limitations in prosecutions under bankruptcy laws from one to three years.

Ninth—A law to permit appeal direct to the court of customs appeals on questions of law involved in decisions on appeals to re-appraisement of importations.

In discussing the administration of the trading with the enemy act, the Attorney General called attention to the provision of the peace treaty with Germany which provides that the property of enemies is to be held until American claims are satisfied.

"The rights of our citizens," Daughterty declared, "should be safeguarded and the action of Great Britain and our Allies emulated in such that there should be retention of enemy property until satisfactory and reliable arrangements be made for the protection of the property claims of American citizens. It is needless to say that the course of further litigation is uncertain at this time, pending the further action of Congress."

KILLS SWEETHEART, SELF

TACOMA, Dec. 9.—Leo Perfetti., 28, former Italian army officer, shot and killed his sweetheart and himself in an Italian fruit store here. It was three months ago that pretty Armentina Pedroni, 22, left her home in sunny Italy and sailed for the United States to make her home with a sister, Mrs. Caroline Lenti. Friends and relatives believe she wished to forget Leo, who had loved the girl for four years past.

According to Mrs. Lenti he had written many letters to the girl, and when she insisted that she no longer cared for him, he decided to kill her. Leo entered the store where the girl was employed and after a few minutes' conversation drew a revolver, shot her once through the head and then turned the gun on himself.

DEMANDS DELEGATES QUIT

TOKYO, Dec. 9.—Withdrawal of Japan's delegates to the Washington disarmament conference is demanded in resolutions adopted by the National Association, an organization having a large membership of university professors, military and naval men.

The resolution, which has been cabled to Washington, declares that America in making her proposals for naval disarmament showed disregard of the right of Japan and does not intend to co-operate in reaching adjustment. Vice-Admiral Uezumi is the leader of the association.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO GIVE DANCE AND ENTERTAINMENT

Varied Program Is Planned by Organization; Time Is Saturday Night

A dance with a program of several entertaining numbers will be given by the Glendale Athletic Club, Saturday night at 8 o'clock at 111 East Broadway, announces Rex Randall, president of the club. This is the first to be given by the club and the proceeds will be used for carrying on the work of the organization.

The program of entertainment, in charge of L. E. Thompson, one of the directors of the club, will consist of several vaudeville features. The committee in charge of the function has widely advertised the event and plans are being made to entertain at least 100 couples says Mr. Thompson.

Membership Increases

Since the organization of the Glendale Athletic Club last October, its membership steadily increased until now there are nearly 100 enrolled. At present gymnasium classes are being held every Tuesday and Thursday night in the high school gymnasium and plans are being discussed for securing permanent quarters for the organization later on.

A special meeting of all the club members will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at 111 East Broadway at which time final details will be made for the dance tomorrow night.

Nobody Will Take Ascension Island

LONDON—A remarkable dispute has been going on for some time between the colonial office and the admiralty over the ownership of Ascension Island, a tiny British possession 800 miles northwest of St. Helena.

The island is borne upon the admiralty's books as a ship—that is, it has a captain and comes under the Gibraltar command. But the admiralty doesn't want it any longer, so they offered it to the colonial office. When the colonial office learned that it costs $40,000 a year to maintain this possession and that it produces nothing but turtles, the colonial office declined the gift with thanks.

This dispute is a result of the economy campaign in government departments, and the admiralty wants to reduce expenses by getting rid of Ascension.

Old Timers Regret Changing Name of Canadian Village

EDMONTON, Alta.—Old-timers in the Canadian West regret the recent change of the name of a small town in Alberta from Crowfoot Crossing to Gleichen. The original name was a tribute to one of the great Indian leaders of the west, Crowfoot, chief of the Blackfeet and head of the powerful confederacy of Blackfeet, Bloods, Piegans, Sarcees and other allied tribes. His jurisdiction extended over 10,000 warriors. He was the white man's steadfast friend in critical years.

He held at one time the fate of the west in his hands. That was in 1885. Louis Riel, leader of the half-breeds and Indians in the Riel rebellion, had sent his runners through the Indian villages to stir up war against the whites. Many of the tribes were ready to strike. It remained for Crowfoot to say the word and the west would have been deluged with blood and the scattered settlements wiped off the map.

The United States was a great nation in 1885, but Western Canada was little better than a wilderness. The Hudson's Bay company had surrendered to Canada its old empire. The Canadian Pacific railway had not yet reached the Pacific coast, but settlers were beginning to swarm in along its unfinished line. The marvelous transformation of the prairies into one of the greatest farming regions in the world has taken place within the last forty years.

The time was psychologically ripe for an Indian uprising. If the red men had torn up the new railway and made a determined stand, the development of the west would have been held back a half century. Crowfoot gave Riel's emissaries a respectful audience, but refused to join the rebellion. His decision saved the West a long and bloody war.

Marriage Solution for Unemployment

WASHINGTON—The latest solution for the unemployment problem is a get-married campaign.

This novel idea is being practiced daily by Dr. Slom P. W. Drew, of this city, who has earned the sobriquet of the "Marrying Parson" through his efforts in behalf of the local colored population. The idea obsessed him recently when streams of colored men and women applied to an employment bureau, of which he is president, for jobs. Unable to provide everyone with employment, he consoled them somewhat by offering to perform a marriage ceremony.

So successful is his idea, says the "Marrying Parson," that he has found it necessary to establish regular office hours to take care of his daily rush of business.

GIRLS WATCH THE NEWS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—A census just completed by Radcliffe college of its 600 enrolled students reveals that 96 per cent of the young women read the newspapers regularly. Seventy per cent read one or more "home town" papers as well.

Sixty-two per cent of the Radcliffe girls said they read the editorials of their newspaper regularly. The news columns ran second as a "favorite section."

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, Mattie L. Shorb by a deed of trust dated August 4, 1919, and recorded in Book 6929 at page 162 of Deeds in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and recorded in Book 664 at page 235 of Deeds in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Bernardino, State of California, did grant and convey the premises therein and hereinafter described to Charles L. Chandler and Don S. Williams, as trustees, to secure the payment of certain promissory notes executed by said Mattie L. Shorb and aggregating the principal sum of $130,216.35, said promissory notes being described as follows, to-wit:

One promissory note dated August 4, 1919, for the principal sum of $78,-365.37, due on or before nine months after date, to the Home Savings Bank of Los Angeles, California, a corporation, with interest from date until paid at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable quarterly in gold coin of the United States;

One promissory note dated August 4, 1919, for the principal sum of $6,850.98, due on or before nine months after date to the Home Savings Bank of Los Angeles, California, a corporation, with interest from date until paid at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable quarterly in gold coin of the United States;

One promissory note dated August 4, 1919, for the principal sum of $30,-000.00, due on or before nine months after date to the Home Savings Bank of Los Angeles, California, a corporation, with interest from date until paid at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable quarterly in gold coin of the United States;

One promissory note dated August 4, 1919, for the principal sum of $15,-000.00, due on or before nine months after date to the Home Savings Bank of Los Angeles, California, a corporation, with interest from date until paid at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable quarterly in gold coin of the United States;

Which deed of trust further provided that the same should secure the payment of said indebtedness and the payment of all other sums with interest becoming due or payable under the provisions of said deed of trust to the said trustees or beneficiaries and the payment of such additional sums with interest thereon as might be thereafter borrowed from the beneficiary by the maker of said notes, and which trust deed further provided that during the continuance of the trusts thereunder the trustor would pay before delinquency all taxes and assessments upon said property and upon the debt secured thereby, together with all other claims, liens and encumbrances affecting or purporting to affect the title to said property and all costs, charges, interest and penalties on account thereof and also all costs, fees, charges and expenses of said trustees and of said trusts and would repay within thirty days from the date of advancement and without demand all sums advanced or expended by said trustees or said beneficiary under the terms of said trust deed with interest thereon from the date of advancement until repaid at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, said trust deed further providing that should the trustor fail or refuse to make any of the payments or do any of the acts hereinbefore mentioned in the manner and at the times provided in said trust deed, then the trustees and beneficiary or either of them might, without notice to the trustor, make or do the same in such manner and to such extent as they or either of them might elect and might pay any claims, liens or encumbrances which in their judgment appeared to affect said property or said trusts and should a breach or default be made in the performance of any obligation secured by said deed of trust, then the holder or holders of any note or notes or indebtedness mentioned as secured thereby might declare all sums secured thereby immediately due and payable and thereupon should execute and deliver to said trustees a written declaration of default thereunder and demand for sale and should thereafter record in the office of the Recorder of the County wherein said property, or some part thereof is situated, a notice of such breach and of election to cause said property to be sold to satisfy said obligations; said trust deed further providing that after three months should have elapsed following said recordation of said notice said trustees without demand on said trustor should sell said property in such parcels and at such times and places as they shall deem best to accomplish the objects of said trust, having first given notice of the time and place of such sale or sales in the manner and for a time not less than that required by law for sales of real property upon execution, which trust deed further provided that said trustees might at any time, without notice, upon written request of the holder or holders of the note or notes secured by said trust deed re-convey portions of said property without affecting the personal liability of any person for the payment of the indebtedness mentioned as secured thereby, or the effect of said deed of trust upon the remainder of said property, and

Whereas, said beneficiary, Home Savings Bank of Los Angeles, under the provisions above mentioned, on April 21, 1920, advanced and paid the sum of $5,918.60, taxes upon the property above mentioned, which payment said trustor failed and refused to make, and no part or portion of which has been repaid, and

Whereas, the total indebtedness and notes secured by said deed of trust have been transferred to California Bank, a corporation, of Los Angeles, California, and

Whereas, said Mattie L. Shorb has made default in the payment of the notes, principal and interest, and indebtedness hereinafter more particularly set out, and said California Bank, the holder of said notes and said indebtedness, has declared all sums secured by said trust deed immediately due and payable and did on July 16, 1921, execute and deliver to said trustees a written declaration of default under said trust deed and demanad for sale and did thereafter and on August 5, 1921, record in the office of the Recorder of the County of Los Angeles wherein said property or some part thereof is situated, a notice of such breach and of its election to cause said property to be sold to satisfy said obligations and has demanded that said trustees shall sell the premises granted by said deed of trust to accomplish the objects of the trusts therein expressed.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that the undersigned, by virtue of the authority in them vested, as trustees, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in United States gold coin, on Saturday, the 10th day of December, 1921, at the hour of ten (10) o'clock a. m., of said day, at the Broadway Street entrance to the County Court House in the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, (being 250 North Broadway, in said City of Los Angeles,) the interest conveyed to them and each of them by the aforesaid deed of trust in and to the real property therein described as follows:

SUCCESS FOR ARMS PARLEY IS RESTING ON THREE MEN

Critical Stage Is Reached in Conference, Statement Made by Correspondent

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—The armament conference reached the stage today where developments within the next few hours may determine the success or failure of the epochal gathering.

Success means the scrapping of almost half the warships of the United States, Great Britain and Japan and an end to the competitive building under which the tax-burdened peoples of all three countries have been staggering for years.

Failure means a continuance of the vast building programs which will lead to world naval supremacy for the United States and the possibility of war in the dim future.

The decision rests with Japan. Upon her acceptance or rejection of the 5-5-3 naval ratio laid down by Secretary Hughes and accepted by the other great powers, hangs the world's future naval strength and the success or failure of the Washington conference.

Rests with Three Men

The decision in the final analysis rests with three men—Secretary Hughes, A. J. Balfour of Great Britain and Baron Kato, the diminutive leader of the Japanese conference staff. After two weeks of futile discussion the experts and the technicians of these countries have failed utterly to reconcile their divergent views and have turned the responsibility of decision back to the three leaders.

Renewed assurances came from official American sources today that there would be no "backing down" on the part of this government. The Japanese contention for a ratio of 10-10-7 instead of 10-10-6 was officially described today as utterly inadmissible and so far as America is concerned the Japanese can either take it or leave it. The American delegates are willing to see the conference go on or stop right now on the 5-5-3 issue.

While the situation admittedly was tense today, American officials were not unduly perturbed. They are supremely confident that after a brief period of bickering Japan will announce her acceptance of the American ratio in its entirety.

Believe Japan Bluffing

The feeling prevails in official quarters that the Japanese position is more or less bluff. It is pointed out that Japan has everything to gain and nothing to lose by accepting the American program. Japan will be relegated to a poor third in the naval strength of the world whether building stops now or whether it continues, as it surely will if Japan elects to go on. Enough American tonnage is partly completed on the ways today to ensure American naval leadership of the world within six years.

The experts of Japan, who now are holding forth against accepting the liberal American program, know this.

The belief prevails in American and British quarters that Japan is maintaining a bold front in the hope of making a "trade" on some other issues of the conference in which she is vitally interested—notably the fortifications of the Pacific and maintenance of her position in Manchuria and Mongolia. The American spokesmen are confidently expecting a proposal from Japan that the 5-5-3 ratio will be accepted upon condition that the United States agree to raze the fortifications at Manila, Guam and in Hawaii. Such a proposal, if it is actually made, will be immediately rejected.

Opposed to Trading

The policy of this government is strongly against any "trading" of whatever character. Secretary of State Hughes and his colleagues believe that the naval program laid down by the United States is fair enough to all concerned to stand on its own merits, and will have to be accepted that way if it is accepted at all.

It was not expected that there would be any actual decision today.

The naval situation is hung high on the pegs of a deadlock while the powers turned their attention to the famous Shantung controversy. The date of the next meeting of the naval committee is uncertain. The call for such a meeting rests with Secretary of State Hughes, as chairman, and it was officially stated today that no date has been determined upon.

RED PEPPER HEAT ENDS RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Advertisement.

French Aeronauts Offering Big Prize for Reliable Engine

PARIS, Dec. 9.—With a view to finding a really reliable and easy-working airplane engine a committee founded a few months ago and known as Le Comite Francais de Propagande Aeronautique has just created a prize of one million francs to be awarded to the constructor who can produce an engine giving necessary guarantees of durability, regularity, easy dismantling and cheapness in upkeep.

The competition is open to any foreign-made engine. Foreign constructors, however, before submitting their engines, must undertake by contract to manufacture in France should their motors be accepted. All engines must be ready for testing purposes on June 1, 1923, at the latest. The prize will be awarded some months later.

The French Aero club has promised to launch the competition and will receive all engines and have them tested by proved experts in aeronauticsal motors. One or more engines may be submitted by any constructor.

The idea prompting such a competition is a desire in France to find an absolutely sure engine for commercial purposes. Speed will be of minor importance. Reliability is what is first needed.

HARDING ACCEPTS BID

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Harding tentatively accepted an invitation to attend the annual convention of the National News executives and Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be held at Milwaukee, during the week of June 4 to 11, 1922. The president said that the date would fit in with his contemplated trip to the Pacific coast and Alaska next year and that if nothing intervened he would be very glad to be present.

LLOYD GEORGE NOT COMING

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Premier Lloyd George has definitely announced that he would not attend the Washington conference. The Premier said that he hoped to visit America early in 1922. His present trip was prevented by the special session of Parliament next week.

Cook Confectionery and Cafe Will Be One Year Old Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cook of Cook's confectionery and cafe, 128 South Brand boulevard, will observe the first anniversary of the establishment of that business on Saturday, December 10. They wish to thank the people of Glendale for the hearty support given them in their efforts to cater to the wants of the community.

Speaking of their success Mrs. Cook says: "The foods served on our tables are prepared from the finest materials and the preparation of the meals has received the utmost care of expert women chefs under our personal supervision at all times.

"Our kitchen and its equipment are kept clean and sanitary and inspection is invited at any time. Our soda fountain, too, is kept at the same high standard and the drinks and sodas we serve not only delight, but satisfy with their pure and wholesome ingredients. Our chocolate creams, which we consider the perfection of the manufacturer's art, are made with real cream, butter, maple sugar, honey, fruit and nuts and the chocolate coating is of the highest quality. Briefly that is the reason for our success."

TAKE AIRPLANE SMUGGLER

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 9.—The first capture in the history of the United States of an airplane smuggler has been made, according to customs officials. James S. Stewart, commercial aviator, W. H. Helbig, his brother-in-law, and Louis Belancourt, "lookout" at the secret landing field, are in jail and their airplane, a high-powered automobile and forty gallons of whiskey are confiscated as a result of a long chase of the alleged smugglers.

Deputy Customs Collector Evans met the plane at its landing place near Camp Kearney last evening and captured the trio and their contraband single handed, after being "tipped" by border agents of the departure of the airplane from the loading place near Tia Juana.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Sale of the old sub-treasury building at San Francisco was authorized by a bill which has passed the House. The property cost the government originally $284,000. It was damaged in the San Francisco fire.

PHYSICAL TRAINING OF BIG BENEFIT TO YOUNG FOLK

Development of Strength and Skill in Children All Done With System

By ALBERT T. BLANFORD
Supervisor of Physical Education In Glendale City Schools

Five years ago the State Legislature passed a law making the daily teaching of physical training compulsory in the grammar schools of the state. The Glendale schools had anticipated this action of the legislature, for physical training had been introduced in our schools several years previous to the passing of this law. This progressive stand has been maintained by introducing the program of physical training advocated by the State Board of Education. This program is a play program, seeking to accomplish the threefold aim of physical training by means of games and athletic sports.

The three aims sought in the teaching of this subject are:

First—The development of the heart and lungs and other important organs and the building up of vitality and nervous capacity to stand the wear and tear of strenuous modern living.

Second—The development of muscular strength and skill and quick mental response.

Third—The development and control of the instincts and emotions that lie at the foundation of character.

More Natural Exercises

In the past we have attempted to accomplish these aims by the use of formal exercises which are unnatural movements. Not being natural they have failed to appeal to the child, with the result that where such exercises have been given the response has been poor. Now we are trying to make use of the more natural, playful tendencies of the child.

All of the known games have been gathered together and classified for the use of the physical training teacher. In the first two grades games based on the imitation of adult life are played. Such an incident as a policeman directing the traffic at a busy corner forms the basis for this type of game. One child acts as the policeman, some represent trucks, some automobiles, and then the fun begins. Such old favorites as Drop the Handkerchief, Cat and Rat, Farmer Is Coming, are used to round out the program. No exercises at all are given to these grades.

In the third and fourth grades the same activities mentioned are again used, but in a more complex form. Simple exercises, designed to correct defects in posture are introduced, also the children begin to learn some of the elements of athletic games that will later form a large part of their work.

Different Games Played

In the fifth and sixth grades interest in the imitation of adult activities ceases. All the traditional games of tag and hunting and chase are enjoyed—the athletic games that do not require a high degree of team-play.

The games already learned, with the more complicated types, form the basis of the seventh and eighth grade activities. Soccer, touchball, courtball, basketball, cageball, hockey, track and field, baseball for the boys, and volleyball, captainball, nine court basketball, track and field and baseball for the girls, are the chief games played.

The required time spent on physical training is twenty minutes per day. Of this time six minutes is spent in so-called "relief periods" scattered through the day.

Diverted from Routine

In these, activities are used that quicken the action of the heart and lungs and divert the mind from the school-room routine. The remainder of the twenty minutes of required time is called the "Industrial Period." At this time all of the games and finer points of the athletic sports are taught. In addition to the required work, playground teachers are assigned to promote the play at recess, noon, and after school periods.

Regular schedules are played in each sport as its season comes around. Honors in the Athletic League are vigorously contended for by the boys and girls. The soccer and volleyball seasons are just coming to a close and the attention of pupils and teachers is about to concentrate on track and field events.

In all of the work outlined above the aim of physical education, the development of a well-rounded individual is constantly emphasized.

WITHDRAWS IRISH BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts has withdrawn a resolution which he had offered in the House proposing that Congress extend its best wishes for success to the Irish free state. He said that he did so upon advice from friends in Boston.

O'CONNELL GOES TO GIANTS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Jimmy O'Connell, hard hitting first baseman of the San Francisco Coast league club, has been sold to the New York Giants for $75,000 in cash and four ball players, George Putnam, Secretary of the Seals, announced here. O'Connell will not report to the Giants until the spring of 1923. He brought more money and players to the San Francisco club than any ball player ever sold by a minor league club.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION BIG HELP IN BUILDING FOR CITIZENSHIP

Present System in Schools Seeks to Foster, Create and Maintain Spirit of Fair Play for All

By H. L. BUTTERFIELD
Of Union High School Faculty

When people hear the term "Physical Education" spoken or refered to, one wonders what passes through their minds. Too many times the antiquated idea of "just games," or "a bat and ball" are the limits of their conception of what physical education implies True, the field of physical education has not been much more than just games and haphazard play. From this standpoint there can be but little of value in relation to citizenship. What play there was, nevertheless, had a decided effect on citizenship and has a tremendously greater effect at the present time.

In our effort to build a citizenship which to correspond to the advance of our generation, we have neglected one of the most important factors of human development. We have had first of all in all ages the instinct to live and grow—to protect our family life, and to seek for ourselves a livelihood. This has been and will always be, a constant factor. To this end we have put forth our best efforts.

All for Education

We sought for ourselves the best in art, in literature, and in general education. Every branch of the sciences have been extensively explored. Next to a livelihood education has been the recipient of most of our energy. We have built great universities—millions have been spent in libraries, and research laboratories. From these sources great men of the past have gone forth to make history for their generation and perhaps for all time. The world's leadership must always come from those who pass through these great institutions. These are essential and their position in civilization will remain unquestioned. The relationship to citizenship is of primary importance. But livelihood and education do not consume the whole of man's nature, hence they don't have all to do with the status of citizenship. The most influential factor in all life has been the most neglected. Big business has sent out the cry for men and women with trained minds —people who excel because they have a developed brain power. To this end books and laboratories for industrial and commercial research have been established. Citizenship pays its respects to the man with a trained mind and gives to him the place of leadership and authority. The present generation has reached a place in the progress of civilization where the neglected phase of our national life must be cared for. The play instinct in man has been turned loose to have a free course. Our fighting instinct has reached its end in our great disarmament conference. Education turns out world leaders mentally. The play instinct in its present unbridled and undirected state is a drawback on our civilization.

Greatest Development

The greatest development in any form of life comes through the exercise of the play instinct. The animal that does not find expression for the play instinct does not develop. The parent guides the young in its play and thus develops the infant and prodigy into the mature adult of the species. The character and type of play determines the type of later life. Man is a part of this animal kingdom.

The parent finds great delight in the playful antics of the child and takes great pains to see that it does not get hurt. In a certain per cent of cases the parent goes farther and shows the child how to play and plays with it. On the other hand the greater number grow through the early years and not only learn from others how to play but acquire the traits of character involved in that play. The child grows and develops through play. Every child should be encouraged to play a great deal until fifteen or sixteen years of age. Not many should have much manual labor or confinement before that age. Too many children are cut off from their normal development by having responsible and burdensome tasks placed upon them while they are yet in the play age. Too many children are stunted mentally and physically in their adolescent years when they should be playing wholesome and vigorous team games which develop fair play, honesty, co-operation and team-play. Physical education through its present program seeks to bring the boy and girl into his rightful inheritance and give him a rational program for normal development.

Citizen of Tomorrow

The child of our playground, whether at school, in city lots, Y. M. C. A.'s in connection with churches, or athletic organizations, will be the citizen of tomorrow. The child who is physically fit to hold his own on the playground as a rule heads the class in his mental achievements. The statistics of sedentary occupations show a high rate of physical inadequacy and even physical collapse. With our present rate of civilization a man must be physically fit to carry his share of the load. No man ever had a nervous breakdown who kept physically fit. The great statesmen at the disarmament conference are men of physical as well as mental stamina.

By a systematic grading and program of activities by ages and sexes, physical education seeks to control the child's development. Every child and youth is training to be a man. He doesn't realize it, but physical education must assume that responsibility nevertheless. The real life of the child—his real nature is asserted only in play. If this be true then we must see that in his play he is honest—is considerate of others—co-operates in team play, and learns the value of comradeship and wholesome association. He must learn to respect rules of the game. He must learn the social value of play. The boy who follows the rules of the game in his play life where he is serious and vitally concerned as to the outcome will readily find his place in the duties of citizenship in later life. The boy who can captain a team will usually find a place of leadership later in life where he can lead his team mates in life through citizenship struggles.

Ideals of Youth

The ideals of youth are recognized in the attitude toward its play. The boy who fouls willfully in the game usually will cheat his fellow man or cheat in his examination. Citizenship of the future depends upon the the well-directed play of the present. The program of physical education seeks to foster the ideals and traits of character which shall mould every boy and girl into the types of man and woman which will perpetuate the best in our civilization. Physical education strives to keep a man fit. It seeks to enable nature to serve its purpose and by proper direction of play activities and recreation to prevent disease and nervous breakdown. If we can convince the citizenship of our country the fact that a man who is not physically fit is usually not mentally fit then our demand for more attention to the program of physical education will be heeded. Every citizen owes to his generation a sound body and a sound mind. The two go together. Not a big giant stature, but a healthy body. A body to meet the physical and mental needs of our time.

We ought to be as regular in our program of physical exercise and recreation as we are in our eating. Every man needs exercise. Very few business men get as much as they need. They ought to take time for it. They could do more work and better work with a rational amount of daily exercise. The responsibility is an individual one. The present day demand for alert, quick-thinking, energetic business and professional men can only be met through a program of physical education which will meet the needs. The citizen of the future must be fit not only mentally and socially, but must be able to cope with his fellow citizens physically.

The present system of physical education in our schools seeks to foster, create and maintain a spirit of fair play, co-operation, high ideals that will serve as a logical basis for the educational needs of higher citizenship.

Japanese Have Oil Problem to Solve

TOKIO—Certain influential Government officials are understood to have taken steps toward the formulation of an oil policy for Japan. The problem is periodically put forward as a most urgent one from the standpoint of national defense. Officials of the Finance and Navy Departments and the Department of Commerce and Agriculture are understood to have given great consideration to this most important subject. From 1916 to 1919 the annual output of petroleum fell by regular stages from 2,661,000 koku (one koku equals 47.65889 U. S. gallons) to 2,060,000 koku, with imports rising in proportion. The following table shows in thousands of koku the crude petroleum production of Japan since 1916, to the beginning of August, 1921:

Years.	Production.
1916	2,661
1917	2,612
1918	2,243
1919	2,060
1920	2,213
1921 (January to July, Inc.)	1,109

POLICE ARE RESTRAINED

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Dec. 9.—An injunction restraining police from interfering with the assembling of packing house strikers was issued in Circuit court here by Judge T. B. Allen. The application for an injunction, sought by M. C. Bozie of Kansas City, was the result of an order by the Chief of Police forbidding strikers from picketing the packing plants and soliciting workers to quit work.

ASSAULT ON PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Declaring that the United States has advanced "further towards government revolution than she yet realizes," Robert A. Widerman of New York has filed a brief in the United States supreme court attacking the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and asking review by the court of decisions upholding the validity of the amendment. Widerman's brief declares that he has suffered no pecuniary damages because of the prohibition amendment, but he files his action in defense of his liberties. The brief further declares that as regards prohibition, America has "to a mild degree exhibited the very disregard of constitutional principles which characterizes all revolutions."

MAN SLAIN; WOMAN JAILED

EUFAULIA, Ala., Dec. 9.—James S. Wilcox of Birmingham, state agent for the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, was found murdered on the outskirts of this city. Robbery is believed to have been the motive. Indications point to the fact that Wilcox was choked to death, Annie Lee, a negro woman who lives near where Wilcox's body was found, has been arrested.

KILLS GIRL, THEN HIMSELF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Crazed with jealousy because his 19 year old sweatheart, Edith Barker, had become engaged to another man, George Butler, 33, a butcher at Walter Reed hospital, hacked her to death with a pocket knife and then took his own life by cutting his throat.

DAMAGED

SECRETS OF EARLY DAY SCHOOLING ARE REVEALED

Little Girl Teacher Shook With Fright Whenever Trustee Came 'Round

Miss May Stansbury, principal of the Magnolia school in Los Angeles, was the second teacher in the former two-room Fourth street (Broadway) school in the old Sepulveda school district.

"There isn't any question but that the first school makes a vivid impression," stated Miss Stansbury, recently, recalling individual members of her classes. "All through the normal school I wore my hair down my back. When I got my "sheep skin," I decided that I was quite grown up, so I put my hair up. I can remember that the worst trouble I had on my job was keeping my face straight all the time before the class. Some of the boys were my own age and one of the girls was older. It really is ridiculous when you think about a mere girl being principal of a school. My assistant had the lower grades.

"Glendale has always been a progressive place in regard to education. Our school out there was modern. It was not a backwoods school at all, except that we were handicapped by having so many classes in one room. I have some very pleasant recollections of my experiences out there. One of the boys still calls me up to congratulate me upon my birthday."

Praise for J. C. Sherer

Speaking about J. C. Sherer, who was then trustee for the district, Miss Stansbury remarked: "I don't suppose he knew how much my knees shook when he walked into the school one afternoon on a visit of inspection. It was a momentous period. I don't suppose he stayed more than an hour. He is a very fine man and always had educational interests at heart.

"I don't know as the problems then were much different than they are now. Of course, the children had to come from greater distances than they do in city school districts. None came any great distance, although one girl came from Sycamore Canyon. She walked a large part of the time. The main difficulty was for one teacher to handle so many, and that particularly is the difference between a city and country school. In some cases it was impossible to have each subject recited every day. In certain cases I had to resort to having an older pupil help a younger.

"No, I don't think the pupils took advantage of this fact. There is more of a tendency for a country boy or girl to appreciate the privilege of going to school.

Fewer Distractions Then

"There weren't so many distractions in those days. School was the main avenue of getting away from home and something different from doing the chores around home. Getting away from home and going to school was a change. It was a break from everlastingly staying at home. I think there was more of a tendency to appreciate the school.

"A city child has so many more things to draw his attention. Schools are made much more attractive. Much more money is spent on schools and much more thought is given to their work, both by educators and the general public. Now there is sloyd, moving pictures and ever so many things are planned for them. At that time no schools had sloyd of cooking and even the most progressive city schools had none of these vocational subjects.

"One great difference in a school at that time and these days is in the amount of help a teacher gets from outside supervisors coming in. Then one teacher taught all the work given. In those days it was largely reading, writing, and arithmetic with music thrown in. Now there is a supervisor for everything—sloyd, cooking, music, drawing and other subjects.

Hardships Were Privileges

"Hardships? I was a country girl myself and I look back at those things, not as difficulties, but as privileges. I am rather sorry for the little tots who travel three city blocks to a city school. I used to ride three miles to school. Parents come to me all the time and say that it was so far for their children to go to school.

"All children go to school now more as a matter of fact. Parents take it for granted that the proper thing for their children to do is to go to school. I think that we are just as thorough in our work and 'clinch' things just as successfully now as we did then. Of course, where the classes are smaller, each child gets a little more individual instruction."

Within the last few years there has been a concerted effort on the part of practical teachers of history to bring people to a realization of the fact that it is desirable for the student to see the various steps in the development of the human race. Is it not as important that the student know of the development of the human race as of the development of plant life?

The aim in history teaching is to give the student a sympathetic knowledge of his environment; to acquaint him with his political environment; to give him an appreciation of the nature of society in which he is living, a sense of his duties and responsibilities as a citizen, the ability to deal with the political and governmental questions of his world, and to give him a broad and tolerant spirit which is gained by the study of past times and conditions. It is not our aim to make history an accumulation of facts for facts alone, but these are to be used to gain the habit of correct thinking. The student who is historically trained to consider political questions in school has some comprehension of the political and social problems confronting him in daily life. In order to understand the institutions surrounding him, the student must study the development of ancient institutions. He must see the works of men, the rise and fall of nations with the course of their downfall, that society is moving and in order to have it move in the right direction he must profit by the mistakes of individuals and nations. By studying the relation between cause and effect a sense of judgment is developed. The student soon realizes that one event grows out of another.

He is taught to hanadle books, to gather information, to arrange and systematize facts, and to be able to use this material for his own pleasure and the pleasure of others.

With these aims the student of history learns facts not for facts alone, but concerning his relation to man anad his institutions. He learns to take his place in the social and political life of his family, his school, his state, his nation and his world. Is it not worth while?

Interest in Government Sought in History Classes

By FREDERICK BORNCAMP

Strong among the reasons for teaching history in the school is that of developing in the rising generation an interest anad an active part in co-operating with our present government. As a contributing cause to many of the present difficulties which are recognized as existent in the state of affairs of today, a lack of intelligent public interest stands prominently. Persons with whom a careful attention to the affairs of business is second nature have considered public problems lightly or only in so far as their pocketbooks are touched. Others approach these questions without realizing that similar ones have been settled in the past. The way in which they were settled and the effect of the mode of settlement has presenting to the classes a review a strong bearing on present problems. If the school is to fulfill its purpose it must develop effective citizens. Effective citizenship is developed through history courses when lessons of the past are concretely applied with a reference to present situations. For this reason the study of Current Events is receiving increasing attention and time in our history classes.

The Literary Digest has been found to be an effective medium for presenting to the classes a review of current events. Using this as a text one period a week, Friday is spent in reviewing the happenings of the week. Discussion by the class brings out the essential facts underlying the questions and makes clear how the past is related to the problems of today and of the general welfare of the country. In this connection past historical situations similar to the ones under discussion are recalled. In this way history emerges from its seclusion as a thing of the dry and dusty past. Its importance is seen to be gauged by its reference to what is contemporaneous. Present day affairs are seen in a new light and valid grounds are presented by which fair judgments of present day happenings are made possible. Past experience has shown us that to allow this practical application of the teachings of history to be delayed until after school days are over means that this practical connection between past and present conditions is never made and that history fails to assure its full effectiveness as a vital factor in the every day life of all of us.

Statistics show that the average American woman is 5 feet 5 inches in height.

Appreciation

THE teachers of the Glendale schools desire to express deep appreciation of the loyal co-operation and support which they have received during this American Education Week.

We desire to thank all of those who used their automobiles or permitted them to be used in Monday's parade.

We also desire to thank all of those who took part in the Tuesday evening program, all patriotic, civic, fraternal and religious organizations which have given us their support at this time, all citizens and patrons of the schools who have shown their interest by visiting us during this week, and we especially wish to express our appreciation of the very generous support given us by our local newspapers.

Respectfully,
COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS.
American Education Week, 1921.

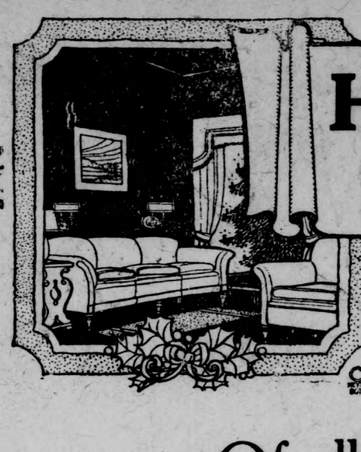
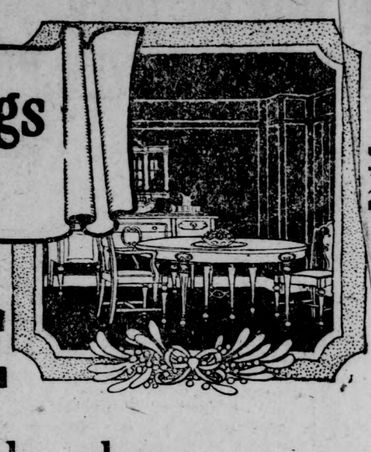
Home Furnishings for XMAS

FURNITURE





—Of all the Gifts you might choose, brings to every member of the family a greater measure of pleasure and service all the year around—than any other article.

Good furniture is an asset to the environment of all homes. You owe it to yourself, also to the children, to see that the home is furnished in a pleasing and restful manner. With this in mind we suggest that you make this store your Holiday Headquarters and allow us to serve you.

Our Furnishings are the Good Kind—the Quality Kind—the Reliable Kind—from the least expensive that's worth while, to the best that's made, and our prices are less than city prices. Compare and you'll realize the savings.

SMOKING STANDS

—Fine looking stands, that will allow the man of the house to smoke in comfort without detracting from the appearance of the room. Many styles in mahogany, priced very inexpensively.

A B GAS RANGES

—Will surely be appreciated by the housewife. Their reputation for quality and service is a guarantee of a long life of usefulness—and their many labor saving features make cooking easier. We have many models at a large price range from which you may select.

WRITING DESKS

—Are up-to-date gifts that will bring joy to the heart of any woman. Every housewife needs her own desk for the keeping of household accounts and for her personal correspondence.

RUGS

—Are magnificent gifts—the sort the early Argosies of trade brought at Christmas in a younger world. Rugs that are real treasures should be seen here—the wonderful Bengal Oriental reproductions, Anglo-Persian and other fine weaves.

AN EASY CHAIR FOR 'DAD'

—Give father a big, easy chair for Xmas—where he can spend a comfortable evening at home. We have many styles; some in overstuffed tapestry, some in leather, and some in velours and other fabrics.

DRESSING TABLES

—A woman always loves to own a well-appointed dressing table—with really good mirrors. Our dressing tables will please the most fastidious and yet the prices are extremely moderate.

BEAUTIFUL LAMPS

—Tall, graceful floor lamps with the most beautiful shades imaginable—artistic table lamps in a wonderful variety, and priced far less than you would expect. Come and see this showing.

TEA WAGONS

—Are invitations in themselves. If you would be sure of pleasing some social being, or if your own household needs its useful ministrations (it diminishes work), why, a tea wagon is the right idea. Women simply dote on them.

SEWING CABINETS

—Gifts which cannot fail to please, for they can be given only to the ones who will appreciate them most. They save many bothersome trips after needles, thread, or material, and have such a "homey" look wherever they may be placed.

'PHONE STANDS, CHAIRS

—Make excellent gifts to those whose telephones are not conveniently placed. They occupy a minimum of space and are sightly pieces of furniture.

CEDAR CHESTS

—Are veritable Pandora boxes for feminine treasures. Stunning chests of genuine red cedar with copper trimmings and the delicious cedar fragrance can be bought here.

A ROCKER FOR MOTHER

—This is a piece of furniture that makes an unusually acceptable gift because it is both practical and so popular that it can be handed down to future generations as a valued heirloom. For it is a style that has come down through many generations because of its beauty of design and comfort. Arm chairs and rockers, mahogany finish.

This remarkable subdivsion has attracted widespread attention. The first four units have been sold since mid-summer, three of them since October 1.

Where there were barley fields and cantaloupe patches two months ago, there are now forty homes completed or under construction and new ones starting every day.

This high class property is located in the West end of the City of Glendale, directly on the Pacific Electric line, with two stops on the Tract.

Anyone who investigates cannot fail to appreciate that the prices for lots in FAIRVIEW are ridiculously low for this class of property.

It is being sold to people who are building homes which makes for population and consequent increase in values.

Temporary homes under suitable restrictions are permitted. Come out to FAIRVIEW today. Bring $50.00 and get a lot.

Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Road to Vine Avenue (opposite F. L. Meneley Window Shade Factory) then one block to right to tract office at Vine Avenue and Fourth street, or phone and we will call and take you out to the tract. The Tract Agent is on the ground every day.

DR. CHASE RECALLS HIS SCHOOL DAYS AT SEPULVEDA

Got Up Early, Did Chores and Then Walked Miles for Early Education

"I think if a boy don't succeed with educational advantages he gets now there is something wrong with the boy," stated Dr. Raymond E. Chase, recently, speaking about some of his own school days in the old Sepulveda school district.

Dr. Chase had to get up early and do the chores before walking to school—but then he didn't think anything of that because all of the boys did the same. Part of the time he attended the old Cerritos school and part of the time the former Broadway school. Each of these was about three-quarters of a mile from his home, near Chestnut street and Glendale avenue.

"We didn't have bicycles in those days," he said. "Some of those, who came the farthest, came on horseback.

"Shinny was one of the big games. We went out and cut our own shinny club. We played about fifteen on a side and we didn't use a ball either; we used an old tin can.

"We didn't have baseballs in those days. Sometimes we would get a hard rubber ball and wrap it with string."

Swam With His Eyes

The "old swimmin' hole" was recalled by Dr. Chase, but he said his principal memory of it was "peekin'" through the bushes to see who was there, because there was considerable rivalry between the boys from Tropico and Glendale. He stated the pool was a hole scooped out of the river at the foot of Los Feliz road.

"Reading and spelling, writing and arithmetic were the main things then," remarked Dr. Chase. "I don't remember one subject I had at the Broadway school, however. It was bookkeeping. I couldn't make the set balance. Then the teacher, E. L. French, tried it and he couldn't make it balance, either. The entries came out of a book and the figurs should have balanced right off."

After being graduated from grammar school here Dr. Chase rode a bicycle for three years to the old Los Angeles high. This is seven or eight miles from Glendale. When his bicycle broke down he had to walk each way, except for the chance of being picked up by a farmer driving into town or home again. Dr. Chase recalls that bicycles were not very substantial in those days and that it took a long time to get them repaired when they broke down. He remembers one stretch of two weeks during which he had to walk every day.

Originality Now Lacking

That it doesn't develop originality of today is Dr. Chase's criticism of the modern school system. He mentioned particularly the athletic field where a boy finds everything at hand and doesn't have to study and work to make his own apparatus or paraphernalia. Consequently, Dr. Chase does not believe that there is proper appreciation for the school system.

"From the standpoint of education itself they have wonderful chances today," stated Dr. Chase, "because the schools are planned along vocational lines. They were just beginning that when I was in school. When I was in high school a pupil had to take a prescribed course to get a diploma."

Dr. Chase remembers that he wanted to take languages and history in high school and was obliged to take algebra and geometry for which he has never had any need.

"There is a change for the better in that respect," he stated. "Boys and girls are being fitted for almost any position in life they want to occupy. Girls are fitted for the home. They are taught sewing and those things which make for a good home life."

According to Dr. Chase lack of appreciation for education advantages offered to the youngsters today may be traced directly to lack of home control.

"The home is the foundation of our whole fabric of government," he remarked. "Day by day the parents are shunting their responsibilities upon the shoulders of the educational authorities."

School Activities Are of Big Educational Value

By KATHLEEN CAMPBELL

Have you ever stopped to realize the educational value of school activities? To what does the participation in school activities lead?

While the values are many, perhaps the three outstanding are the training in citizenship, leadership, and sportsmanship.

In judging a man or a woman, do you not admire them, do you not look up to them with respect if they have the reputation of being good citizens in their community, their state, and their nation?

A person entering into school activities with an aim in view, a goal to reach, is the person that will be a true and loyal citizen of the United States. In entering into school activities one must be up to a high standard in one's work; one must obey and see that others obey the rules of the school; and, last, one must boost all plans for the further advancement of one's particular school. Does not a good citizen also carry out these same things? No matter how humble the work, a good citizen performs it well. He carries out the laws of his country and sees that his fellow citizens do not violate them, and lastly he is, behind any plan for the further advancement of his community, state, and nation.

A person cannot learn the essentials of good citizenship too soon, and by entering into school activities in high school he will be training himself to be an outstanding citizen.

Is not leadership an asset? To be picked out in a crowd as a leader, as one capable of carrying on big things is certainly something worth while.

When taking over the responsibility of an office or in becoming a member of a team no matter in what activity, the student is assuming responsibilities that will train him to be a leader.

Which will be your choice when out in the world? To be at the bottom of the ladder being directed, or of being at the top—a leader directing?

You will find that there is no better training to be found than in participation in school activities for leadership.

What is a good sport? Is it not one that takes a victory modestly and does not become a braggart; and one that takes a defeat with a smile? Is there anything more admirable in a person than good sportsmanship?

No matter what activity you enter into in your school life you will meet with victory. Victory—and you will also come up against defeat. Is there anything more pitiful than one in an athletic game or one in an debating game that receives defeat with a grouch; one who finds something to crab about? The lesson of good sportsmanship may be learned now, in high school, by entering into school activities.

To be admired as a man or a woman one must be a good citizen. Two very important phases of good citizenship are leadership and sportsmanship.

So the educational value derived from school activities is immense for it teaches three essential lessons! Citizenship, leadership, and sportsmanship.

STRONG BODY HELPS PUPIL TO SECURE HIGHER SUCCESS

Athletic Coach at Glendale Union High School Says Training Is Essential

By N. C. HAYHURST
High School Athletic Coach

The theoretical and practical aims of physical education are to develop a first class thinking machine within a healthy and vigorous body. Some emphasize man as a thinking machine; others as possessing only a body. But we must attain a harmonious co-ordination of mental and physical activities to be able to be successful in the competitive work of life.

The first consideration is that the body must have a strong and vigorous constitution, as this is essential to a healthy and vigorous mind. The body must have a strong heart, a vigorous circulation of pure blood, a good digestive system, sound lungs, and all the requisites of a healthy constitution.

In its work the body must be able to capably carry out the orders of the mind. The muscles must be hardened to fatigue and the bones made firm.

To Work In Harmony

All the organs and muscles of the body must be trained to work in harmony. This training will develop the ability of the muscles of the body to perform skilled actions. Thus we see that if the body is to be a successful servant of the mind, its necessary attributes must be health, strength, and skill.

The mind controls our actions in the practical affairs of life. In order to attain success certain qualities of intellect and character are required. Whenever it is possible the judgment should be calm and deliberate, but in the practical life of to-day conditions are such that we often find no time for calm and deliberate action. Rather the opposite is demanded—that the mind be ever alert and able to give judgment quickly and coolly. We must also be able to act promptly on this judgment. In order to win our competitive struggle for existence we must be self-reliant and independent, and fight without giving in to defeat until the last whistle blows. The more strenuous the conditions, the greater must be the courage and self-reliance needed. Life's battles are much like a football game, the stronger the opposition the harder one must fight, and when the game is over one must learn to master one's self, to win without triumph, and to lose with a smile.

To Best of Ability

Practical life also demands cooperation and here again one finds a similarity to the football player. The player in the game must play his part to the best of his ability. One in life must be loyal to those he represents, be ready to subordinate the self for the good of the others, and to obey the law and constituted authority.

Thus we see that the aims of physical education so far as the body alone is concerned is to develop health, strength, and skill. But we also seek to develop the qualities of the mind and character that are necessary for successful co-operative and competitive affairs in life. In order to accomplish these aims we teach in the physical education program: first, the big muscle activities (the athletic games) that develop strength and power of the body, alertness of mind, ability to make quick judgment and self reliance; second, the control of the growth handicap, that is, corrective physical education that helps to give to the deformed boy or girl a better body for adult life; third, the teaching of efficient living.

What Is History? Here Is Answer From Student

By E. MAUD SOPER
Glendale Union High School

History is the story of life—a story beginning with man in his most primitive condition where he had to learn the use of fire, of pottery, and of weapons; where, gradually giving up his wandering life as he learned to domesticate grains and animals, he settled in communities and began to lay the simplest foundations for the complex political life to which we are accustomed to-day.

Ancient History opens with man in his primitive surroundings and slowly unfolds the story of his development in art and commerce and political life until we see in the civilization of Greece and Rome some of those democratic and artistic tendencies which we claim as our heritage to-day.

In Medieval History we continue to trace the story of life as it passed into the shadow of the Dark Ages, but emerged again to force its way up into the light of scientific discovery, of artistic expression in poetry and marble and of freedom for the minds of men from superstition.

Modern History carries man through the last two hundred years or more when the modern governments and institutions of Europe were being formed, and France and England, Germany and Russia were being moulded into the nations which today we admire or condemn.

In our American History we trace man in his westward expansion movement as it landed him on the Atlantic coast of the newly discovered continent and gradually pushed him further and further west until finally in the Philippines the West has touched the East and mingled with it. The struggles of our forefathers are studied as they laid the bases of democratic government, free religion, and public education.

In Civics, Economics, and Sociology the place of the individual as a part of our local and national life, with the responsibility of understanding this life—of strengthening its strong points and reforming its weak ones—is made a part of the great story of life in which we, as Americans, have made for ourselves so great a place and whose influence will continue to grow stronger, if we have the broad vision which realizes that the foundations of a lasting nation must be honor and justice and righteousness, and a breadth of sympathy, which will extend beyond its own bounds to share with weaker nations the blessings which we have inherited from the past.

Some Early History of Glendale Given by Pupil

By ETHEL JOHNSTON
A-Sixth, Cerritos School

Twenty-eight years ago when my father first came to California he used to jump on the trains and ride to Glendale. He would go to the Chinese gardens and often to the watermelon patches. The other boys of the neighborhood would ride with him to the orchards and vineyards. A great hit with the boys was a swimming hole in South Glendale. When the boys went to the swimming hole they rode part of the way by train and had to walk the rest of the way because they had no street cars then.

When mama came here eighteen years ago the houses were few and scattered. Each house had two or three acres of land. The little town of Tropico had only two stores and a few houses. The city of Glendale was then considered very large. Los Angeles was immense. Nearly every person had a vineyard or orchard. There were many watermelon patches and Chinese gardens on the San Fernando and Los Feliz roads.

Within the last two years people have been dividing their land into lots and have been cutting down the orchards and building houses. They have been plowing the vineyards and watermelon patches under. The houses now are close together and have not a very big back yard. What used to be Tropico is now South Glendale. There are not many vineyards any more. Up towards Burbank are a few watermelon patches. Glendale has many new schools now which they did not have then. They have street cars, manufactories, two new theaters and all kinds of new stores. The population now is about 19,000 people.

BANK INTERIOR WRECKED

PARSONS, Kans., Dec. 9.—An overdose of safe cracking "soup" foiled the plans of yeggmen who entered the state bank of Dennis, near here. The charge of explosive was so great that it wrecked the entire interior of the bank and the detonation aroused the town. Shots were exchanged with the robbers, who escaped in a motor car after securing only $55 from a cash drawer.

DEVELOP NATION'S WEALTH, PLEA OF SECRETARY FALL

All Should Benefit, Declares Official in Reporting on Interior Department

By H. K. REYNOLDS
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—It is the hope of Secretary of the Interior Fall, he disclosed in his first anunal report to President Harding, that every possible assistance be extended by the federal government in developing the nation's potential wealth for the benefit of all the people.

"The department of the interior—the home department," Fall declared, "is fully equipped and prepared to do its part in the development of those great natural resources which must be so developed if all the tax burden upon this and future generations is to be borne at all."

To accomplish this end, the secretary is quite willing to slash some red tape on his own account and in his review of development work during the past fiscal year he has taken occasion to ask the active co-operation of congress and to urge that the president announce an "affirmative strong policy" for the completion and additional construction of irrigation projects in western states.

Success for Projects

In the reclamation of arid lands, there have been many mistakes and resultant dissatisfaction in the past, Fall said, but "on the whole practically every project is successful and the larger portion of the amount heretofore expended and to be expended, in its completion, may safely be counted upon to be returned under the provisions of the law."

The secretary assures the water users of irrigation projects that the department in Washington "is doing everything possible to reduce expenditures" and asserts that "reductions in operations and maintenance charges upon many of the projects may be expected at a very early date."

The president's attention was directed to bills now pending in congress for further activities in the matter of reclamation of public lands. The secretary pointed out that should these bills be enacted into law, "additional opportunity for labor will be offered to the unemployed and at the same time homes made for those who desire them."

The manufacturing industry in Japan employs more than 1,000,000 women.

COMMERCIALISM IS SPIRITUAL HELP, SO BANK SAYS

Non-Productive Idlers Are Not Entitled to Riches, Is Claimed in Letter

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Greenwich Villager, dabbling in art for art's sake, is overlooking a one best bet.

Far from being a menace, the commercial spirit of the age holds the key to the "riddle of spiritual well-being."

So says the American Exchange National bank, which, in its current monthly letter, forsakes the dry field of finance to pay its respects to the young ladies and gentlemen who spend their time about the cellar tea tables, denouncing the ways of commerce.

"In fact, avers the bank, "if it weren't for the commercial instincts of some gone before, those young people might be grubbing for their own living instead of discussing art." The dissertation continues:

When War Was Main Job

"In the days when war was the chief occupation of nations the warrior naturally held the mere trader in contempt, and as he usually made a profit from war the trader did not object. Later, at the beginning of the modern economic system, the heirs of the warrior class were still in possession of large land holdings, which the economists of that day sought to justify upon the ground that a leisure class was needed for a medium for the transmission of culture to the next generation, to carry on the traditions of the race and to bear forward the fruits of progress and civilization.

"In a degree these economists were right. The leisure class of that day, directly or indirectly, did not only in large part recover the culture of past ages, but they also erected a new culture and raised new standards which they bore gloriously forward, standards which have elevated the entire human race, standards upon which the superstructure of modern civilization is firmly set.

Our Own Age Is Greatest

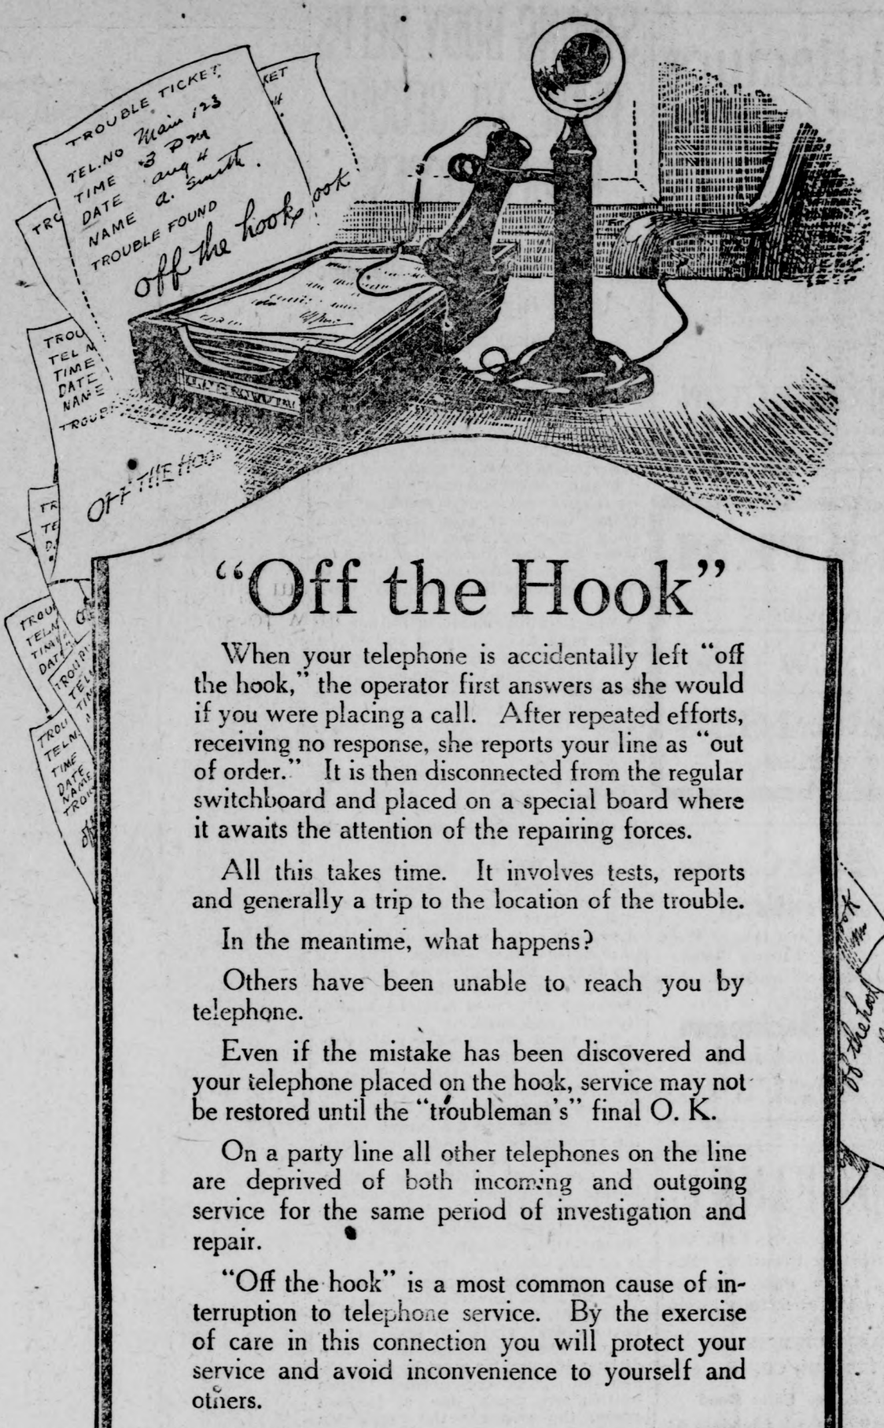
"Our distinguished predecessors were also responsible for much foolishness for which we must excuse them, as they also were members of the human race. But they were rarely guilty of the foolishness of living in the past. They were seldom found going back to the cave men for standards with which to measure their contemporaries.

"Our own age is the greatest of any of which we know that the world has ever seen, and commercialism has made it what it is, for commercialism has applied the wisdom of the ages toward the improvement and the welfare of all mankind. And furthermore, unless it miserably passes its opportunities by, commercialism will eventually solve the riddle of spiritual well-being.

"Except that the enthusiasm it invokes is rarely genuine, there is no objection to the pursuit of art as a diversion for those who are not artists, provided they do something to earn the leisure in which to carry on the pursuit. Loafing on unearned money is an economic crime. The son of the rich man is no more entitled to leisure than the son of the poor man. Wealth in the hands of the individual is a trust which cannot rightfully be employed in support of idleness. The modern code requires that every man shall make his own contribution to society, and that is one of the canons that are leading commercialism toward the spiritual regeneration of the race."

FEDERAL WARRANT ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—A federal warrant charging Charles W. Morse, New York banker, with embezzlement and conspiracy in connection with his shipping activities during the war, has been issued in the supreme court of the District of Columbia. The warrant has been placed in the hands of the United States Marshal for the district.



"Off the Hook"

When your telephone is accidentally left "off the hook," the operator first answers as she would if you were placing a call. After repeated efforts, receiving no response, she reports your line as "out of order." It is then disconnected from the regular switchboard and placed on a special board where it awaits the attention of the repairing forces.

All this takes time. It involves tests, reports and generally a trip to the location of the trouble.

In the meantime, what happens?

Others have been unable to reach you by telephone.

Even if the mistake has been discovered and your telephone placed on the hook, service may not be restored until the "troubleman's" final O. K.

On a party line all other telephones on the line are deprived of both incoming and outgoing service for the same period of investigation and repair.

"Off the hook" is a most common cause of interruption to telephone service. By the exercise of care in this connection you will protect your service and avoid inconvenience to yourself and others.

Christmas is always a more joyful occasion if you have a home of your own in which to entertain your family, relatives and friends.

It is always possible to have a more homelike atmosphere in your Own Home than in a rented house. Partly, on account of the real sentiment involved and partly—because in a rented place from which one may move at any time, there is not the incentive to use the care and the money in keeping everything in perfect order.

No other investment you can make will pay you the dividends in comfort and contentment as well as in (rent) money saved as a home.

If you contemplate building during the next few months, we will be glad to offer you many helpful hints, offer a wealth of well arranged plans; can furnish you quality lumber and building material—and give you an efficient service at prices that will compare very favorably with those of other lumber and building material concerns.

Starving Russians Helped by Their Friends Here Through Herbert Hoover's Assistance

This Russian mother has laid her famished baby on a bed of straw and is watching over the little one, while the father is scouting around the countryside in quest of food. They are refugees in flight from the famine area, but, like tens of thousands of others, with little hope of winning the race with hunger, unless help comes quickly.

It was to save just such families as this that the American Relief Administration, headed by Herbert Hoover, has instituted the food remittance system which permits residents of the United States to buy and have delivered to friends or relatives in Russia from $10 to $50 worth of foodstuffs. Flour, condensed milk, beans, rice, hominy, cooking fats, sugar, and tea or cocoa comprise the balanced rations that are delivered to the recipient of each remittance.

One-quarter of the food authorized by each food remittance is turned over to the free mass child-feeding kitchens of the American Relief Administration. In this way the purchaser of the remittance is given the privilege of contributing to the assistance of the 1,200,000 Russian children the A. R. A. will take care of this winter. At the same time the recipient of the remittance gets as much food as the sender could purchase at retail in the United States. This because of wholesale buying, bulk shipping and free service in Russia. The A. R. A. guarantees delivery to the recipient at the warehouse nearest his home. These warehouses are being established and stocked with food in all parts of Russia.

Persons desiring to purchase food remittances may apply either in person or by mail to the Russian department, American Relief administration, 42 Broadway, New York City. They will receive a blank form which they must fill out and return to the A. R. A. with a money order. The remittances are forwarded by mail to the London office of the A. R. A. thence by courier to Moscow, from where they are distributed to the proper warehouses. The recipients are then notified to come to the warehouses and get their food.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS JAPAN'S SUPPORT IN NAVY PLAN

Japanese Delegation Hopes to Secure Submarine Quota Equal to United States

By HARRY L. ROGERS

Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Japan will support Great Britain in her efforts to bring about a reduction in submarine tonnage under the Hughes naval program, it was learned in an authoritative quarter. The Japanese delegation also is prepared to stand behind Mr. Balfour in his contention that the tonnage of individual submersibles should be materially restricted.

In return for this support, Japan expects Great Britain to assist her in securing a quota of submarines equal to that of the United States and Great Britain in place of the 5-5-3 ratio accorded under the present Hughes plan.

Japan's determination to back the British attempt to cut down the submarine tonnage allotted under the Hughes plan is not based upon humanitarian scruples against the use of the undersea craft, but upon very practical considerations and economy and efficiency in naval preparation. Admiral Baron Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, fully appreciates the value of the submarine, both as a weapon of defense and for use upon commerce of the enemy as Germany employed it during the late war.

Hopes for Compensation

The Baron believes, however, that even the maximum submarine allowance of 90,000 tons accorded under the Hughes plan to Great Britain and the United States is inadequate for the needs of Japan if the submarine is to figure at all in her naval strategy. Convinced that it would be impossible to obtain a sufficient quota, the Baron has determined that it would be the part of wisdom to cut the submarine allowance to a minimum, perhaps in the hope of obtaining compensations in types of vessels more adaptable to the revised naval strategy of Japan.

Japan counts on using throughout the negotiations concerning auxiliary vessels, the same argument employed by Baron Kato in the discussions with Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour on the capital ship ratio, namely, that owing to the weaker financial condition of Japan, sacrifices of completed vessels are felt more keenly by the Japanese than by the United States and that allowances should be made for this difference.

In British and Japanese quarters the entente is privately spoken of as a fact, which has been practically accomplished, and which needs only the final word from London and Tokio to complete the undertaking. It is significant that most of the talking is coming from these sources and that American officials qualified to speak are maintaining silence.

Denies Trading Argument

The question of how deeply the 5-5-3 naval ratio for Japan enters into the situation, also is a matter beclouded with considerable doubt. On the surface of things, Baron Kato still is awaiting word from his government, as to whether the 5-5-3 ratio originally proposed by Secretary Hughes is acceptable. He denies strenuously that the 10-10-7 ratio, put forward by the Japanese as a counter proposal, was designed as a "trading argument."

The conference resumed its sittings behind the closed doors of the Pan-American building with a disconcerting situation prevailing in the Chinese delegation. Four of the high advisers to the Chinese delegation have resigned in protest against the alleged "mishandling" of problems affecting China.

It is freely predicted in Chinese quarters that more resignations will follow. There are indications, however, that Chinese dissatisfaction is directed as much toward the leaders of the Chinese delegation, as it is towards the conference itself. The advisers and counselors of the delegation openly complain that they were not consulted in advance of action by the chief delegates.

With Babe Ruth barred from playing for more than a month during the start of next season's baseball race in the major leagues, it seems a foregone conclusion that it will be impossible for him to attempt anything in the line of even equaling his last year's record of 59 home runs, let alone exceeding it. As a matter of fact, there are many who believe that with even a full season, Ruth would have to be mighty lucky to get up to that mark again. The fact that he will not be after the record will eliminate a mighty interesting feature of the baseball season. Thousands of fans all over the country were in the habit of looking at their papers the first thing in order to learn if the Home Run King had added another swat to his string.

There is no question that there is a lot of disappointment over the fact that Ruth will be compelled to forego another race to smash his own record for circuit swats in a season, but there is also a well defined feeling that discipline must be maintained. Baseball is bigger than any individual man in it, and if the best interests of the great American sport are to be maintained, it would be folly to allow any player, no matter how prominent he may be to play fast and loose with the regulations which govern the sport. As a matter of fact there has been too much fast and loose disrespect of the conventionalities of baseball, and it is a good thing to put on the brakes.

While there always is a lot of fun poked at Walter Camp's All-American football team selection, we note there is no little interest and speculation as to who will make the eleven. It probably will be several weeks, or a month before the selection is given out and, in the meantime, those who profess to belittle this expert, are doing the most talking as to who will and will not be included in the list.

There is quite a difference between champion boxers. While Jack Dempsey is anxious and eager to meet anybody the promoters may select, Lightweight Champion Bay Leonard is doing a lot of side-stepping, and only taking on the easy ones when public opinion forces him into action. Of course, Dempsey figures they are all easy in the heavyweight division which makes something of a difference. There are some tough birds among the lightweights.

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Pacific coast colleges, like colleges all over the country, have tasted the financial boom in the gate receipts of football games this year. The season just closed has been remarkable for the increase in gate receipts. This is due to an even greater public interest in college football than ever before, and in many instances to an increased seating capacity at various colleges which have built new stadiums.

The official statement that the California-Stanford contest at Palo Alto last month showed receipts of $210,000 is a record never before made on this coast and exceeds by $135,000 the largest gate record, made in 1920 when California and Stanford played to a $75,000 house. That 53,000 people attended the California-Stanford game this year is explanation of the increase as opposed to less than 30,000 attendance at last year's game. The increase is also due to an increase in price of admission which held sway this season.

Official figures for the Yale-Princeton game this year at the Yale Bowl shows total receipts of $249,000 so that the coast colleges with their larger stadiums are now almost on a par with eastern colleges in ability to handle big crowds and take in money 'round the quarter million dollar mark.

Every college on the Pacific coast has shown proportionate large increases. This not only in the "big game" of the various coast sections, but in the preliminary games as well. California with its present field able to accommodate slightly less than 30,000 spectators has packed the stands on several occasions, a thing that happened previously only in the California-Stanford games. Washington with its new stadium at Seattle has shown a big increase in attendance and a consequent increase in receipts in all games played. Oregon, the Oregon Aggies, Washington State, and the University of Southern California also report big increases.

Stanford university, which requires a train trip or long automobile ride from San Francisco, never enjoyed the prosperity in preliminary games as it did this season and the bank accounts of this and all other colleges are bulging this season with credit balances that will go a long way towards paying off the debts of building the new stadiums that have sprung up like mushrooms all over this coast.

Every university in the country depends on its football season to carry on practically every sport indulged in by the colleges. The increase in football receipts will naturally give each college greater freedom and large budgets to work on in other sports in the future.

In the Referee's Corner
by Jack Veiock
International News Sporting Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—What a football season was the one just ended!

What a wealth of wonderful playing material; what interest among the devotees of the game!

Before the war they thought football was just about as sassy a sport as we had—and it was some sassy, at that—but my, how it has grown.

Big intersectional games this season hyped up interest in football the like of which has never been known before. The football-loving public ate those games up with a relish there was no mistaking for a waning appetite.

Attendance was never greater than during the season just closed. No accurate estimate of the number of people who witnessed college games alone could possibly be made without getting statistics from every college in the country. But take it from us, there were some 3,000,000 fans inside the fences to see collegiate competition in this country, and if that isn't an indication of football's growth we'd like to know the reason.

A few big eastern games alone drew 314,000. The Yale-Princeton game headed the list with 78,000. Next came the Yale-Army game with 76,000, and the figures for three other games complete the fine total mentioned above, as follows: Yale-Harvard, 55,000; Princeton-Harvard, 55,000; Army-Navy, 50,000.

Barney Dreyfus is generally a good source of news for the inquiring reporter. He is always willing to give up his time to render opinions on this or that, and if he has any real news of Pirate dealings and it is put up to him to affirm or deny a story he'll do something as a rule.

But this fall, so far, the Pirate owner has been something of a clam as regards his future plans for the team that set the league on fire during most of the pennant race and then flivvered in the home stretch.

Hints coming out of Pittsburg lead us to believe that Mr. Dreyfus is going to shake up his ball club in the belief that some of his players are holding down jobs they hadn't ought to be holding. Just what his reasons for such a belief may be—if he has such belief—may crop out during the coming few weeks. At any rate, some of the Pirates' heads are coming off, if we are to credit Smoky City rumors.

Benneh Leonard is still knocking the boys about the ring in a care-free fashion and takes 'em as they come.

But the champion doesn't fight very often, simply because there are so few battlers in the lightweight class whom he has not met who can draw big enough at the gate to make it worth the promoter's while to sign Leonard.

Two or three good jousts are in prospect for Benneh during the winter, however, and New York may see him if Leonard and Gibson, his manager, ever make up their differences with Tex Rickard.

Kansas Tendler and several other lightweights will draw plenty big in the Garden and they will get a chance—IF.

It's this way: Gibson claims that Rickard tried to give him "the works" in business dealings. Leonard says he boxed for Irish and other benefits and then, when about to box for a Jewish benefit, found out that the man selected for him was to get $7,500, whereas Benneh was to give his services for nothing. On top of these little grievances Leonard does not fancy the manner in which some decisions have been rendered by New York judges. Now all they have to do is to get together and patch up these differences and Leonard will be a big card in the Garden.

Girls in the high schools of Pittsburg, Kan., wear the uniform of skirts and middy blouses.

BASEBALL LEADERS MAKE DEALS FOR COMING SEASON

Lots of Cold Cash to Pass This Winter; Ty Cobb in a Three Cornered Trade

By JACK VEIOCK
Written for International News Service

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Trade winds started blowing here today as the baseball magnates got warmed up to their favorite winter pastime.

With the announcement of the deal that brings Teinie Groh back to the Giants from Cincinnati for George Burns, Mike Gonzales and something like $100,000 in cold cash, other magnates loosened up with announcements.

The Groh deal is the biggest pulled off in baseball since the Yankees bought Babe Ruth from Boston. The little third baseman takes his place among the highest priced baseball players in the history of the game. The deal was not unexpected. It had been talked of for many months. Consensus of opinion among baseball men here is that it "makes" the Giants, and will give rival clubs something unusually high to shoot at if they hope to compete with McGraw's team next season.

The Detroit Tigers, still looking for pitching talent, will try out two Pacific coast twirlers in the spring. President Navin has purchased Pitchers Pillette and Johnson from the Portland team for cash and players.

With the resignation of George McBride as manager of the Washington Senators, Clark Griffith is casting about for a new pilot.

"I havn't anyone in particular in mind," said Griffith today.

Big Deal Under Way

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—To help finish a deal that is expected to put the Tigers in the running for the American league pennant next season, Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit club, has left Los Angeles for New York, where he will confer with Owner Frank Navin. Cobb has been managing the San Francisco winter league club.

"We have a three-cornered deal under way," said Cobb to the International News Service representative before leaving. "If we can obtain a certain American association infielder, we can make a trade with an American league team for an infielder. Give me a second baseman and shortstop next season, and I'll promise to have the Tigers in the running."

In Coast league circles it is reported that Johnny Mitchell, Yankee shortstop, is the player sought by Cobb. A Detroit outfielder also will figure in the deal, it is said.

Cobb was pleased with the deal whereby the Tigers obtained Pitchers Pillette and Johnson from Portland.

Friend of Ball Player

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, is on record today as a friend of the ball player who is coming up.

In his address to the annual convention of the National Association of Professional baseball leagues, the eminent jurist took a firm stand on the side of the player and warned the men who are in charge of the game against keeping any player from advancing in his chosen profession.

The address of the Commissioner was heard by the biggest gathering of baseball magnates that has assembled in a number of years.

There was talk at one time during the meeting here of a possible breaking away on the part of the three Class AA leagues—the International, American Association and Pacific Coast league but, as a result of the sessions held this week, relations between the big minors and their little brothers are solid once more.

The class AA leagues, however, are not any stronger for the draft than they were before and will not accept it.

President John Conway Toole of the International League; Tom Hickey, President of the American Association, and Pacific Coast league magnates here for the meeting made this plain today.

Arizona Lad Kills Big Bear With a .22 Rifle

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Fighting to save his own life and the lives of several younger brothers and sisters, George Haught, 14-year-old son of an Arizona backwoodsman living in the heart of the Magollon mountains, with one shot of a .22 calibre rifle killed an 800-pound silver tip bear that had attacked the children on a narrow mountain trail.

Reports of the youth's bravery and his dead-shot accuracy were received here from members of a de luxe hunting party, which, outfitted at a cost of $25,000 and composed of Southern California motion picture stars and business men, penetrated the heart of the Arizona big game country several weeks ago to hunt and take motion pictures of bear, deer and mountain lions in their native state.

The bear confronted the children as they rounded a turn in the trail on the way home from school. Flight was impossible as the younger children would soon be overtaken if the bear attacked and the dim light of approaching night made the trail unsafe for rapid progress.

Leveling his rifle, and aware that to wound and not to kill would mean death from the infuriated beast, the big brother fired with a deadly accuracy.

Struck in a vital spot, the silver tip collapsed in the trail dying instantly.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—This town has the right name—and twelve sons of Manna C. Bruner, seventy-six, "fought for independence from autocracy." Ranging from thirteen years old upward, thirty-three children of "Daddy" Bruner have grown up around his fireside. Of his thirteen sons twelve of them served overseas during the World War. Two former wives of the "greatest dad in town" are dead.

VARIED READING ON LIBRARY SHELVES FOR HOLIDAYS

Plenty of Adventure, Mystery and Romance Offered to Public for Christmas

Romance, mystery, adventure, music, nature, and the drama are some of the topics included in the assortment of new books which have recently been released for general distribution at the public library on Harvard street, which includes the following volumes:

"Far to Seek," by Maud Diver. A story that the reader will put down with sense of having gained the friendship of men and women of singular nobility, of having been witness to great passions and stirring adventures, and of having had lives made richer by this vicarious experience.

"The Beloved Woman," by Kathleen Norris. For this story the author has selected the intimate occurrences of the wealthy, distinguished Melrose family of New York.

"Zell," by Henry G. Aikman. Avery Zell's boyhood, his family, the influences that entered his life and put him face to face with his great dilemma are the influences that shape thousands of lives everywhere in America.

Mystery and Adventure

"The Young Enchanted," by Hugh Walpole. This story of enchantment is a romance of "that strange year 1920 in that strange town London."

"Youth Triumphant," by George Gibbs. Mystery and adventure, combining to bring romance, go to form this absorbing, thrilling novel. It is the story of youth struggling for happiness and finally triumphing.

"The Year of Delight," by Margaret Widdemer. This story is one girl's answer to that fascinating question "What would you do with $6,000,000?"

"The Mucker," by Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of the Tarzan stories. Adventures in Chicago, California, Honolulu, an unfrequented Japanese island, New York, Kansas, Mexico and among gangmen, sailors, millionaires, yachtsmen, nobility, savage head-hunters, prize fighters, hoboes, cow-boys and Mexican revolutionists, fall to the lot of Billy Byrne, the Mucker.

"These Young Rebels," by Frances R. Sterrett. A highly amusing story based on the eternal conflict between the old and young generations.

"Scaramouche," by Rafael Sabatini. For love of a woman and to avenge a friend. How through crowded days of glorious adventure, Andre Louis Moreau, fugitive strolling player, master of fence, gained fame and happiness at the point of the sword.

New England Life

"Pembroke," by Mary E. Wilkins. A story of surpassing interest which pictures New England life and character.

"Partners of Chance," by Henry Herbert Knibbs. A tale of Arizona, of men who lived a rough-and-tumble life on the highly colored deserts, under the shadows of painted mesas. A story rich in the tang of the country.

"Wild Wings," by Margaret R. Piper. As the characters work their way out of problems which face all young people of buoyant spirits and ambitions, "Wild Wings" gives a definite message as to the happiest relationship between old and young.

"To Him That Hath," by Ralph Connor. A novel of purpose. "To Him That Hath" deals with the problems of today—of the workers, both those who receive and those who pay.

"Tangled Trails," by William MacLeod Raine. A western story.

"The Luminous Face," by Carolyn Wells. What is the fourth motive for crime? The three accepted motives for crime are love, hate and money. It is on the fourth motive that this story is based.

"More Tish," by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

"The Girls," by Edna Ferber.

"Guns of the Gods," by Talbot Mundy.

"The Mountain Trees of Southern California," by Edmund C. Jaeger. An unusually interesting story written for the non-technical reader.

Music for the Home

"The Book of Musical Knowledge," by Arthur Elson. The history, technique and appreciation of music, together with lives of the great composers. An ideal book on music for the home.

"Standard Musical Biographies," by George P. Upton. The composers whose works are most familiar in the concert room are the subject of these biographies, which include, besides brief treatment of the personal sides of their lives, the number of their compositions and the verdict of time on their merits.

"Baker's Biographical Dictionary of Musicians."

"Putting Young America in Tune," by Henriette Weber. How to teach the child appreciation of music.

"The Life and Works of Tchaikowsky," edited by Edwin Evans.

"Descriptive Analysis of Piano Works," by Edward Baxter Perry. For the use of teachers, players and music clubs.

"Stories of Standard Teaching Pieces for the Pianoforte," by Edward Baxter Perry. Containing educational notes and legends pertaining to the best known and most useful pianoforte numbers in general use by students of music.

"The Pianoforte and Its Music," by Henry Edward Krehbiel. This book deals with the instrument, the composers and the players.

"Our Familiar Songs and Those Who Made Them," by Helen Kendrick Johnson. Three hundred standard songs of the English speaking race, arranged with piano accompaniment and preceded by sketches of the writers and history of the songs.

Some Varied Volumes

"Nut Growing," by Robert T. Morris. Especially valuable are the author's description of methods of nut tree growing which avoid the difficulties of grafting and are applicable to all sorts of tree grafting.

"The Life of Frederick Froebel," founder of the Kindergarten, by Denton J. Snider.

"The American Spirit," by Briggs Kilburn Adams.

"Rambles With John Burroughs," by R. J. H. DeLoach.

"The Light of Day," religious discussion and criticism from the naturalist's viewpoint, "Time and Change," "Under the Maples," a volume of varied topics, "Ways of Nature," by John Burroughs.

"The Best Short Stories of 1918" and the year book of the American short story, edited by Edward J. O'Brien.

"Half Hours," by J. M. Barrie, including the following short plays, Pantaloon, The Twelve-Pound Look, Rosalind, The Will.

"The Best Plays of 1920-21" by Burns Mantle, and the year book of the drama in America.

"Our Short Story Writers," by Blanche Colton Williams.

GLENDALE INDUSTRY PLANS TO ENLARGE FACTORY UNITS

Clay Craft Concern, Having Exclusive Supply, Finds Demand for Products

Clay of the finest quality, from the only known deposit of its kind west of the Mississippi river, has begun to play a prominent part in the industrial life of Glendale.

The deposit, representing hundreds of thousands of tons is located near Death Valley. Snow-white in appearance, this clay contains the essential Kaolin properties, besides having the necessary combined fluxes to properly vitrify at high temperature, when burning in the kilns.

It is especially suitable for the manufacture of chemical stoneware, but it makes, even when adulterated with cheaper clays, very superior clay products.

The Clay Craft Potteries, Inc., 3101 San Fernando road enjoy the exclusive use of this remarkable raw material.

The factory is new and of the most modern design and, upon completion of the two units now under construction, will have an annual output of manufactured goods aggregating one million dollars, it is declared by the management.

Formulas are Perfected

Howard H. Carpenter, president of the company, spent many months in the laboratory originating and perfecting numerous formulas and mixtures. That his efforts have proved successful is substantiated by the fact that the company's kilns are burning with an efficiency of almost 100 per cent perfect ware, as against the usual large loss sustained in ordinary pottery manufacture.

The company's principal products are decorative tile, which is being used so extensively for interior and exterior work in home and building construction; beautifully glazed vases and flower receptacles of unique design; artistic ready-built tile mantels; imitation logs for either gas or electricity; terra cotta garden pottery, including urns, birdbaths, sundials, benches, etc., and, lastly, chemical stoneware, which is the non-competitive backbone of the business, consisting chiefly of acid containers, acid condensers and fittings, storage battery boxes and photographer's developing vats.

Officials of Company

Because of the present limited capacity, the company states it is sixty days behind in the filling of orders. To hasten the completion of the two units, which will insure full capacity production, a limited amount of common stock is being offered to the public.

The personnel comprises Howard H. Carpenter, president; J. E. Carpenter, treasurer; and W. F. Yeo, secretary.

Among the directors of the company, are John A. Logan, cashier, Glendale National Bank, and Charles A. Stickney of Los Angeles.

Who's Who Among Hoo-Hoo Clubbers

ATLANTA, Ga.—Who's who in the Hoo-Hoo Club of Aalanta has been established, according to records of the order recently made public. The club is an organization of lumber dealers.

J. Frank Cates was awarded a pearl-handled knife as being the tallest and ugliest member. A fine was imposed on Hoo-Hoo Milton Klein, the club's president, for leaving the chair and talking too much. The assessment was $4.25.

W. J. Fraser, R. A. Burnett, W. B. Willingham, Jr., B. A. Creel and R. C. Morrison were elected members of the board of directors.

H. J. West, of the West Lumber Company, recently elected scrivenator of the National Order of Hoo-Hoo in California, automatically becoming a member of the Supreme Nine, urged everyone to become active in Hoo-Hoo work in this section.

R. A. Burnett suggested the club buy a tract of land close to Atlanta, build a club house and raise cats and kittens for sale to the national membership.

WARNING BY UNITED STAJES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—The United States has issued a sharp warning to Guatemala insurrectionists that there must be no mistreatment of American citizens or property during the present troubles in Guatemala, it was learned. Benton McMillen, American minister, has been instructed to advise the leaders of the provisional government in Guatemala that American interests must be protected. It is also indicated that the state department has ordered state representatives to Guatemala to confer with Minister McMillen relative to steps to be taken by this government to protect American interests.

Dispatches received here state that Manuel Estrada Cabrera, former president of Guatemala, who has been held in prison for several months by the Herrera administration, nas been released by the revolutionists.

Gentlemen:
Enclosed you will find a month-by-month report on the number of eggs which I have had the past season. At the present time I have three flocks of pullets; two flocks averaging 54 per cent, and one flock averaging 66 per cent.
It is needless to say that I am much pleased with PCA Products. I have fed no other makes from my first experience in the chicken business.
Some of my neighbors say that salesmen of other companies are claiming that I feed my hens a special mix, which would explain my high egg production. These statements are false because I have fed regular PCA out of the usual stock.
Yours very truly,

During the past few months I have been much annoyed by close salesmen reporting that I am not feeding the regular standard PCA Dry Mash, but instead have a special mix made for my flock.
I know and you know that I have been buying straight PCA Mash through Blackie Bros.
Believe you will be pleased to know that some of my pullets are laying a pen average of approximately 70 per cent.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IDEA BACK, SAYS JAS. W. GERARD

President Harding in Favor of Some Association; No Danger of 'Sinking'

By JAMES W. GERARD
Former Ambassador to Germany
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.
Written Especially for International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Two speeches—and one of these throwing back to old fears and hatreds—some behind-scenes talk of the powers abandoning their right to their own courts in China—backstairs talk of an Association of Nations—nothing more.

Meanwhile Italians burn the French flag; Curzon is on the war-path again and Lloyd George is 3000 miles away.

If Germany is as powerful, as much to be dreaded as Briand said, the obvious thing to do is to invite Germany into this conference—cut down the impossible indemnity, restore stolen upper Silesia and so remove the causes of future wars.

Call it what you will, the League of Nations idea comes back like the proverbial cat. In February last, President Harding told me he hoped to see the representatives of the great powers in conference at Washington and that he hoped the outcome would be an Association of Nations. We, who fought for the League, will welcome it, traveling under no matter what name. With Bryan, I advocated accepting the League with the Lodge reservations. As time goes on and the intense racial antipathies of Europe are disclosed, we see that years of dreadful war, in the Balkans first, and then in the great war, have not yet taught these hotbloods of Europe the lesson of peace and so, in this country, the disinclination to bind ourselves to send our young men to fight in these disputes has been solidly confirmed.

Must Effort Fail?

But, altogether, it must be confessed, the outlook is black—and where is the church? Any church, every church? All churches in every land should forget their trivialities and come to the rescue of humanity—work, march, sing, pray and preach to encourage this attempt to make the rules that govern individuals apply to those aggregations of individuals called nations—in this pause in the battle for peace the reserves of the church should be clattering to the front—page Billy Sunday.

Must this effort fail and the world go back to fortified frontiers and outposts of hate?

Is Bernard Shaw right? He says that the nearest dog fight tells us that war will never end.

We do not all think so. My father told me that in the forties he witnessed a scene in the old New York hotel, at Broadway, near Waverly place, then the leading hotel in New York. A gentleman sitting quietly at his dinner was attacked by another who threw a glass of claret over the quiet one. No challenge followed—no duel; and because of his failure to resent the insult from a drunkard in the manner the fashion of the day demanded, because this quiet gentleman did not think it was necessary to risk his life before the pistol of a noted duelist, he was ostracised, boycotted, sent to Coventry and compelled to leave society and New York.

Would Reach Round World

We can progress—we have progressed sinle that day—private war has been abolished—can we do away with public war?

Have the thousands of martyrs of religion and democracy died in vain? The corpses of the fallen in this great war placed head to heel would reach around the world.

When H. G. Wells, the great British novelist, came to this country to write of the conference, Ralph Pulitzer gave him a dinner. There were there those literary and those financial and those political. When Wells rose to address them he spoke in a most pessimistic vein—"We are all," said he, "on a sinking ship, and all our present life and civilization in danger of foundering." It was refreshing to see the other guests headed by young Chauncy Depew, only 87, rise one by one, and cry out the gospel of optimism. Even the tactful speech of Max Eastman, New York revolutionist, was tinged with the colors of the rainbow.

We in America are invincible in our optimism. The ship on which we are embarked shall not sink. No, we will load the old ship with good wishes and ideals and help and hope, and sail it, a relief ship of the imagination, into every port of the world.

Kickers Fail to Toe Mark in Price Probe

FAIRMONT, W. Va.—You can't make kickers toe the mark with personal responsibility for their kicks, as a general rule. That is what the price probe commission recently appointed by Judge E. M. Showalter of the Marion County Criminal Court, is finding out, anyway.

Judge Showalter heard many complaints that prices had not gone down here as rapidly as in other communities; so he appointed a commission, headed by former Congressman Mansfield M. Neeley, to investigate and report its findings to the next Grand Jury for action.

The commission took office, duly organized and advertised public hearings at the court house. It comprised three members. When these members would go along the street to and from the court house many persons would verbally complain about high prices here and there. But when they were advised to attend the public hearings and make formal complaints, so the commission would have something to work on, they refused point-blank. That was something for the commission to do, they thought.

Only one single, solitary citizen has had the nerve to file a high-price complaint with the Commission since it was appointed two or three weeks ago.

The Commission is gathering what data it can and will make a report to the Grand Jury.

COMMENDS WOMAN JUROR

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—The Women's Vigilant committee, which sat through the Arbuckle trial, in a report to the organization they represented, commended the stand of Helen M. Hubbard, the woman juror who stood out for conviction.

"Regardless of the guilt or innocence of this defendant," said the report, in speaking of Arbuckle, "this committee wishes he had shown more humility at the end of his trial."

Cosmetics Ruining Pearls, Says Experts

LONDON—"The woman who uses cosmetics and wears pearls is unknowingly allowing her gems to die a lingering death. The better the pearl the more easily cosmetics kill it."

In these words a well-known London jeweler complained of the women who are continually bringing pearls to be repaired, stating that the color and mellow tints are fading.

"We cannot exactly tell these women that if they cease to smear their necks with cosmetics the pearls will retain their color and even improve with time," he said. "A pearl thrives only when worn near the actual skin. It deteriorates so badly when worn over a painted neck that after half a dozen seasons it loses a considerable part of its money value."

KENNETH ROAD HAS BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTMENT

Subdivision Is Placed Upon Market and Shrewd Folk Are Securing Sites

There was a day when Kenneth Road property came cheap compared to that which is asked now.

And it was then that John G. Huntley and Attorney W. E. Evans saw the opportunity of subdivision of the foothills and bought accordingly.

They placed on the market what is known as the Kenneth Heights tract which lies adjacent to Virginia avenue off Kenneth Road. It is highly restricted, with street work and improvements already in. The lots are large and provide magnificent sites for stately homes. The broad streets and easy curves give an exclusive effect to the property.

Now that the tract has been fully developed the sales of the subdivision have been placed in the hands of Arthur Campbell and William N. McMillan, two local real estate dealers, the former at 110 East Broadway and the latter at 124 West Broadway.

Have Purchased Sites

Among those who have purchased sites there with the expectation of building in the near future are Dr. E. Leslie Eames, Dr. Kate S. Black, J. C. Creighton, E. F. Heisser, W. E. Welz, J. Herbert Smith and the Baldwin sisters.

For anyone who doubts the values or advisability of buying in Kenneth Heights, attention is called to the fact that the Baldwin sisters are considered among the shrewdest investors in Glendale. They take their time in taking a profit, but they eventually do.

Owing to lower prices America will furnish Italy with her main supplies of coal for the next five years.

They Competed in Race, Driving Mules

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, wife of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Mrs. J. Griswold Webb, prominent New York society matron, were the competing drivers in the mule race which was the feature of the program at the Duchess County Fair at Rhinecliff, New York. The unusual race resulted in a tie. The photo shows Mrs. Roosevelt, dressed in an attractive slip-on sweater with the new deep V-neck, holding her trusty steed in check at the starting line.

FINE COMBINATIONS OF VARIETY ON T. D. L. BILL

Ed Brouder & Co. in "Bandit"; Jean de Conde Another Star of Programe

"The Bandit," one of the most dramatic sketches in vaudeville with its own special scenery that has just completed a tour of Pantages' circuit, comes to the T. D. & L. theatre today as a headliner. It is presented by Ed Brouder & Co.

Lovers of romance and laces and blue blood will be interested in the presence of a member of the once reigning house of France, Mlle. Jean de Conde, whose clever original songs will be a bright spot on the bill. Her gowns will be of interest to the feminine contingent in the audience, the laces in which have been exhibited at every great exposition, she says. They were given to her great-great-aunt, Louise Adelaide, heroine of the "best seller" novel, "The Rose of Old St. Louis."

Si Jenks, small town wise-cracker, has a carpet-bag full of jokes to tell before going east on an extended tour. He has been playing in the pictures and has a few open dates for Meiklejohn & Dunn.

Of course there will be other numbers, including Lionel Barrymore in his latest picture, "The Great Adventure," quite a different starring vehicle from past photoplay performances by this matinee idol.

Manager Ralph Allen says "if a bit of Mexican Hot, combined with old French laces and mixed in small town sayings with some music and melange isn't recipe sufficient to crowd our theatre tonight, I am sure Glendale will overlook an opportunity."

Indeed, it is fortunate circumstances which bring such splendid variety offerings to the local audiences at regular prices. However, the film colony of Los Angeles and "big time" circuit houses make it possible for Meiklejohn & Dunn to afford a selection of talent otherwise impossible.

Preferred Stock Is Being Offered Public By F. A. Clarke Co.

The F. A. Clarke Company, exclusive retailers of electrical household appliances, is now offering for public sale, $110,000 worth of 8 per cent preferred stock—to be sold at $95 per share—par value $100. One-half share of common stock is being given with each share of preferred. Purchased at $95 per share, this preferred stock will yield nearly 8½ per cent.

The F. A. Clarke Company, which opened its first store in Los Angeles in 1917, has made phenomenal yet consistently sound growth. The company now has stores in seven Southern California towns. In Los Angeles there are now three stores, the most recent one being located on "the busiest corner in America"—in the new Loew's State Theatre Building at Seventh and Broadway. Now nearing completion in Los Angeles is a central headquarters building which will house another retail store—an electrical service station—the company garage—and the offices of the company. This building will be the first in the United States erected to serve electrical household appliance customers exclusively, it is announced.

It is of note that this remarkable expansion has been made solely upon the earnings of the company. The purpose of the present sale of stock is to permit the F. A. Clarke Company to finance its own deferred payments, created through the sale of appliances on a plan of partial payments. At the present time this important function is handled through an eastern financing corporation at considerable expense to the F. A. Clarke Company. This public subscription will make possible the elimination of this heavy expense, thereby greatly increasing the annual net profits of the company. Detailed announcement is being made of this offering through the advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News.

Low Construction Co. Takes Over Business

The Low Construction company, 111 South Glendale avenue, announced yesterday that it had taken over from B. F. Bourne, 415 East Broadway, the building business conducted by him.

All plumbing, lighting and hardware fixtures are purchased in local stores, according to Mr. Pomeroy, of the Low Construction company. Outside of lumber which comes from the mills, other materials are furnished in this community. Local contractors do the masonry, painting, plastering and paper hanging.

Mr. Pomeroy estimates that he can save from one-half to two-thirds of the value of each bungalow erected by the system he uses.

FAVORS DEFICIENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—The senate appropriations committee has made favorable report upon the first deficiency bill passed in the last session of the house with an approximate total of $103,000,000. The greater part of this amount is for the care of the disabled world war veterans. The senate added $1,500,000 for the repair of the Alaskan cable and $400,000 to reimburse those whose livestock was killed by the government in its efforts to stamp out tuberculosis. The new total of the bill is approximately $106,000,000.

Talks on Safety Are Given School Children

An interesting assembly was held Wednesday morning at the Intermediate school, to impress upon the minds of the children the reasons for the observance of "Safety Week." W. G. Lefferts, attorney for the automobile Club of Southern California, delivered a very interesting address, emphasizing the importance of observing traffic laws and right of way.

A. R. Kelso gave a short talk on the importance of the railing on stairways, stating that more people were killed during the past year through accidents on improperly built stairways, than in steam railroad accidents. He also called attention to the fact that so many people were careless about handling poison in the home, when simple markings would prevent so many cases of accidental poisoning. He impressed upon the boys that the same traffic signals that are used by the automobile operator are to be used by the traveler upon the bicycle.

At the close of the assembly, Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the school, requested that the English teachers use the subjects touched upon by the speakers, as a composition lesson in class.

Mrs. Grace Jackson's Pupils to Give Recital

The piano pupils of Mrs. Grace E. Jackson of 1229 North Pacific avenue will give a recital at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spilsbury, 1765 Gardena avenue.

The program will include piano numbers by Barbara Bell, Mary Beers, Justine Boody, Rosena Brown, Mortimer Ballagh, Barbara Chandler, Leatha Colton, Harriet Colton, Marian Duey, Ruth Edmonds, Esther Edmonds, Mildred Fife, Francis Green, Marie Griggs, Winifred Hunt, Catherine Henry, Jean Lyans, Dicksy Lane, Ruth Lane, Adrienne Lawrence, Evelyn Mink, Helen McCormick, Ray Oelschlager, Janet Phillips, Leone Rockhold, Jack Southard, Hazel Spilsbury, Vada Spilsbury, Ruth Tyrrell, Louis Viereck, Elizabeth Young, Graham Young, and vocal numbers by Jean Lyans, accompanied at the piano by Helen McCormick, and by Catherine Henry, accompanied at the piano by Elizabeth Young.

NEW FIRE AT TIA JUANA

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 9.—At least one life was lost when fire destroyed one-third of the business section of Tia Juana, picturesque gambling town on the border. This is the third fire of suspected incendiary origin in the last two months and Tia Juana officials declared there is little doubt but that firebugs are at work. Rumors credit either American-inspired blue law fanatics or the jealous remnants of the revolutionary band who recently failed to overthrow the Lower California government.

The Sonora saloon, the Savoy cafe and barn, the Black Cat, Rooney's restaurant and many smaller businesses and offices were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000. A charred body, believed to be that of a woman, was recovered from the ruins.

ASKS STATE FOR TROOPS

BREAKS NECK, BUT LIVES

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — When Joseph Miowsky, fifty-four, of Howesville, was brought to the Fairmont State hospital with a broken neck it was supposed that he would die within a short time. But Miowsky not only escaped death, but is now walking around the same as anybody, without even a brace to support his head. The man's remarkable cure was effected through a delicate surgical operation, which turned out entirely successful. For weeks his head and neck were encased in a plaster cast. When he left the hospital he walked away without assistance and wore no brace or other contrivance. Miowsky received the injury when caught beneath a fall of slate while at work in a coal mine.

MIRACLE MAN CHALLENGE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Challenging "Brother Isaiah" Cudney to the "test of the serpent" to determine which is a true "miracle man," "Brother John Israel," a white robed barefoot "healer" appeared at the district attorney's office and demanded that his rival be forced to prove his ability as a miracle worker.
The test which "Brother John" proposes is that suggested in the quotation from Mark 16:17, "they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them."
In this test "Brother John" told District Attorney Doran and Detective George Contreas the serpent should be the deadly rattlesnake, for he insists it must be a true test.

FREIGHT RATE REDUCTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Interstate commerce commission has authorized a general reduction of approximately ten per cent in freight rates on certain farm, garden, range and orchard products on all railroads except those in New England.
The authorization came as the result of the voluntary offer on the part of railroads in official southern and western classification territories who proposed a general reduction for experimental purposes of six months of approximately ten per cent on certain enumerated products.

BAKE STRIKE THREATENS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Dissatisfaction over wage reductions threatened to bring about a strike of bakery workers and bakery wagon drivers on next Monday when the cuts are effective. Bakeries producing 70 per cent of the bread consumed in the city would be affected.

FOREIGN DEBT REFUNDING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The foreign debt refunding bill as passed by the house at the last session of congress will be the first legislation to be taken up by the senate at the new session, it was predicted on the highest authority. President Harding let it be known that he would recommend the passage of this legislation in his message to congress on next Tuesday and that the house measure which reposes the authority for refunding the debt in a commission of which the secretary of the treasury is to be a member, is satisfactory to the administration.

Only about 400 genuine "Strad" violins are said to now exist.

MORE THAN MILLION DOLLARS PROPERTY SOLD IN VERDUGO

Beautiful Tract Within City of Glendale Is Fast Becoming Built With Fine Homes

Within the last two years more than a million dollars' worth of property has been sold in Verdugo Woodlands by the F. P. Newport Company.

Of this vast sum of money represented by cash and collateral, $500,000 has gone into the property in the way of improvements.

Where a handful of people lived in 1919, the population now has trebled and many more new homes are being built to accommodate others.

That is only a beginning of the story told by W. L. Twining, general manager of the F. P. Newport Company, subdividers of this splendid section of Glendale, as he sat in the comfortably furnished offices at 115 West Broadway, Glendale, where the company has established a sales force in charge of Robert R. McKenzie and Frank M. Benton.

A complete office force will be maintained at the Glendale office of the Newport company and from here will be mailed thousands of the little booklets—real souvenirs—advertising Glendale in general and Verdugo Woodlands in particular.

As soon as the necessary improvements can be made another portion of the beautiful foothills known as Verdugo Woodlands will be thrown on the market. With the motto of "Children First," the policy is to cater to home builders although there is great opportunity for speculative profit if deals of the day are any criterion.

A Los Angeles woman paid $1350 one year ago for property on one of the principal thoroughfares in the tract. She invested $600 and today is transferring her right, title, interest, etc., to a home builder who will pay her $2450.

The first, second and third subdivisions of Verdugo Woodlands are nearly sold out; a business section has been started with a grocery store conducted by R. D. Estes, and a prominent physician from Glenwood Springs, Colo., is coming next spring, according to Mr. Twining, to open a drug store in a business block with offices above.

Climatic conditions, accessibility, natural scenery and a half hundred other good points are daily shown homeseekers, excursions being run from Los Angeles five days a week and a Spanish dinner served free.

DELAY IN 1923 ARMY BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The House appropriations committee has decided not to frame the 1923 army appropriation bill until the conference on the limitation of armament had reached a final agreement upon the reduction of land forces. This action was taken in congressional circles to indicate a belief that an understanding looking to decreases in military and naval expenditures would be effected by the conference.

REPAY GOVERNMENT LOANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The New York Central railroad company has repaid in full a government loan of $17,500,000 made under the war powers on January 23, 1919, the war finance corporation announced. The International General Electric Company will at once repay in full on a government loan made to it amounting to $10,131,110 made in April and May, 1920, the corporation also announced.

Building Lines of City Be Observed, Declares S. A. Davis

At the suggestion of Councilman S. A. Davis, the city council last night instructed Bert P. Woodard, city attorney, to draft an ordinance that will prevent the building of any apartment house, bungalow court or other structure beyond the building line already established in the residential section of Glendale.

"There are some 'ground hogs' in Glendale who insist upon building bungalow courts and houses over the established building line," said Councilman Davis. "They shut off the view of other residences; they spoil the line of houses on the block; they don't seem to care for the opinions of the neighborhood.

"I notice that the city of Los Angeles has prepared an ordinance which will regulate the buildings to established building lines. We should have the same ordinance in Glendale, for already the building lines have been destroyed in various localities."

Other councilmen seemed to favor the suggestion and the city attorney was instructed to prepare the ordinance for submission to the council.

Chiropractors Open Office in Glendale 209½ South Brand

Virgil L. Pool and Clara E. Hewen, chiropractors, have recently opened comfortably equipped offices here in the Coker & Taylor building at 209½ South Brand boulevard. They have been practicing in Los Angeles recently, but were delighted to find opportunity for close-in offices in Glendale.

Mrs. Hewen is among the oldest established chiropractic operators in the country, having graduated from the Palmer school at Davenport, Ia. In addition to this she has taken the course prescribed by the Eclectic school in Los Angeles of which Mr. Pool is a graduate. This combination makes it possible for them to expeditiously handle cases of both men and women who seek treatment by the science of spinal adjustments.

Messenger Leaves Bag of Money on Trolley

BEAVER, Pa.—How a bagful of currency and checks from a Rochester, Pa., bank went astray when it was being taken by a messenger to the clearing house at New Brighton, a few miles distant, and was recovered and returned after being found on a street car has come to light.

At Junction Park it was necessary to change cars. The messenger, whose name was Henry Camp, by accident left the bag aboard the first car, which was run into the car barn. He was in New Brighton before he discovered the bag was missing. Securing an automobile, he hurried back and found the receiver of the Beaver Valley Traction Company and other officers endeavoring to identify the bag. The bag was returned, and he was happy. Then he surprised the street car men by asking that his fare be paid back to New Brighton The bag was reported to have contained $10,030 in currency and checks.

MAN KILLED BY ACCIDENT

SEATTLE, Dec. 9.—Rudolph E. Voelker of San Francisco, was shot and instantly killed by Patrolman Bernard T. Hunt. The shooting took place within one block of police headquarters and was accidental, according to Hunt. Voelker, a friend of Hunt, when both were in San Francisco before the latter joined the local police force in 1920, was examining a new automatic revolver just issued to him. The trigger snapped when Voelker reached out for the weapon, according to Hunt. No charge has been placed against the patrolman.

Music Makes House Work Much Easier

NEW YORK—"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," lighten the pack and strengthen the limbs of the weary doughboy, and—latest discovery—can lessen the labors of the overworked housewife.

This contribution to domestic art must be credited to a Morningside Heights music student, who does her own housekeeping and doesn't like it. By playing appropriate selections on her phonograph she has been able to exterminate 86.4 per cent, by actual measurement, of the boredom of housework.

A snappy fox-trot accompanies the morning dusting. Dishes are washed to the melodies of a Hayden sonata. Sweeping floors calls for something Wagnerian—chock full of fiery passages. Wash day and thoughtful symphonies go hand in hand.

And when floors have to be scrubbed—oh, dire necessity! —Chopin's "Funeral March" plays all during the sad rites, with little sister winding up the machine and starting the needle over again.

AGAINST TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The conference on limitation of armament and far eastern policy is urged to take steps to crush all traffic on all habit-forming drugs, in a joint resolution introduced in the House by Representative Kahn of California.

The 146 postoffices maintained by Japan in China are exchange mediums for the distribution of opium and morphine to the Chinese, the resolution asserts.

NEUTRALITY IS RESPECTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The eight powers represented in the Washington conference have pledged themselves to respect China's neutrality in future wars. A resolution to this effect was unanimously adopted at the secret meeting of the far east committee. The neutrality issue was one upon which China insisted in the "ten principles" presented to the conference several weeks ago.
